

Lagging Farm Income Given Slump Blame

House Group Deplores Lack Of Federal Help

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee said today lagging farm income is a major reason for the recession.

The committee voiced disappointment because, it said, no proposals are being made to bolster farm income at the market place.

NABBED BY FBI — Eugene Russell McCracken, 43, placed on the FBI's "ten most wanted men" list Wednesday. Slayer of a policeman, he escaped from prison in 1955. (AP Photofax)

It did so in sending to the House for debate next week a bill to provide $3,216,988,539 to finance Agriculture Department activities for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

In another action, the committee approved $750,000 for the new Civil Rights Commission in the 1959 fiscal year. The step was taken over opposition from Southern members of the appropriations group and is certain to provoke a battle.

New Funds Voted — The committee acted a day after the House voted 9½ billion dollars in new funds to run two major departments and 17 federal agencies in the coming fiscal year.

In approving the agriculture money bill, the committee said reduced farm income "is one of the major reasons that there are an estimated five million unemployed workers walking the streets of our major cities today."

"Elimination of the small farmer" is no answer to the farm problem, the committee said. It accused the Agriculture Department of directing its principal efforts toward "urging farm families to obtain off-farm employment and to move off their small farms."

Such a program, the House group said, would only swell the unemployment rolls. The committee cited statistics which it said prove that the economic status of farmers has been lowered substantially since the Eisenhower administration took office.

"The take of the middleman between the farmer and the consumer has continued to increase and the consumer has received no cash benefit," it said. "Per capita farm income has declined from $702 in 1952 to $684 in 1957, it said.

"Every economic recession in this country has started on the farm," the committee said. Financing recommended by the committee includes:

1. Direct appropriations of $1,456,588,653 for regular departmental activities. This is $103,900,000 less than Eisenhower requested, but 100 million dollars of the cut was in the soil bank conservation reserve program which the committee said would be restored if more farmers sign up.

2. An appropriation of $1,760,399,886 to reimburse the Commodity Credit Corp. for its price support and related activities. This was the amount the President requested.

3. Authorization for the Rural Electrification Administration and the Farmers Home Administration to make loans for farm improvements, including installation of electricity and telephones. These loans are repayable over 35 years.

Cuban Rebels Shun Food In Texas Protest

Arrested By U. S. After Their Boat Rammaged In Gulf

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Thirty-six Cuban rebels from New York, charged with conspiracy to violate the U. S. Neutrality Act, continued their hunger strike in jail today. Four Ecuadorians also were accused.

"I think they'll come around," Dep. Sheriff F. H. Deven said after the men all refused breakfast. "They just think they've been deprived of their rights," he said of the fired-up group.

A Coast Guard cutter, rammed their 85-foot vessel about five miles off the lower Texas coast in the Gulf of Mexico. All the New Yorkers were unarmed and heavily armed.

The vessel halted only after U. S. agents pulled alongside and boarded her. The men surrendered without resistance. Arnold G. Barron, who described himself as leader of the group, said the men purchased arms and ammunition from an undisclosed source in the United States with $20,000 which they had saved over a period of months.

He said he was a friend of Cuban rebel leader Fidel Castro and that the United States had no right to seize his men and weapons. The arms were those "with which we were going to defend freedom — the freedom not only of Cuba but of the world," Barron said.

The group protested by going on a hunger strike. All refused food and coffee ordered to prisoners in Cameron County jail last night.

Most Areas Dry, Cooler

By The Associated Press

Generally dry and cool weather prevailed in most of the country today. The wet weather which has plagued much of the Eastern part of the country for a week appeared ended as storms headed across the north Atlantic. Only a few areas reported light rain or drizzle but skies were cloudy in most sections from the Great Lakes region southward into the Ohio Valley and Tennessee and eastward to the Atlantic Coast.

Precipitation in the West also appeared diminishing in amounts although light rain or snow fell across wide areas.

Eisenhower Cites Trade Law Needed

Declares Lapse Of Program Could Lead To U. S. Job Losses

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower says letting the administration's international trade program lapse would jeopardize the jobs of many Americans and build up the "deadly peril" of communism abroad.

It also would mean a return "to the law of the jungle in trade relations between nations," the President said last night in addressing a bipartisan dinner here and a coast-to-coast television-radio audience.

Eisenhower plugged hard for his request that Congress extend the Reciprocal Trade Act for five years. He also wants authority to cut tariffs as much as 25 per cent.

Faces Rough Going — The program faces rough going at the Capitol and is under fire too from some businessmen — 100 of whom staged an opposition rally in Washington.

The 1,200 diners Eisenhower addressed gave him warm ovations at the start and conclusion of his talk and interrupted him seven times with applause.

The dinner, sponsored by 128 organizations backing the administration program, climaxed a day-long conference at which Democratic and Republican leaders joined Eisenhower in calling trade extension vital to United States interests at home and abroad.

Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the Democratic nominee for president, led the list of Democrats providing a bipartisan touch. House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) in a speech read for him because he had a conflicting engagement out of town, sounded a note similar to Eisenhower's in saying the Soviet challenge to the free world in economic competition is "unrelenting and deadly."

Rayburn added: "It will profit us nothing if we gain the moon and lose the earth to the Russians."

Cites Slump In U. S. — The President hit hard at both the global and the home front aspects of the trade program. Alluding to the U. S. business slump, he said: "World trade makes jobs for at least 4½ million American workers. At a time of slack in the economy like the present, these jobs should not be placed in jeopardy by crippling our trade program."

Rejection of the program, he added, would "destroy far more jobs and job opportunities than it could possibly preserve."

Jobless Pay Scope Boost Given Study

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democrats opened the door today to consideration of emergency unemployment compensation benefits going far beyond proposals sent to Congress by President Eisenhower.

As the House Ways and Means Committee began three days of hearings on expanded federal unemployment relief, Chairman Mills (D-Ark.) said the committee would consider plans to pay benefits to jobless workers who are not now entitled to benefits of any kind.

This would apply mainly to farm workers, employees of little firms exempted from the federal unemployment insurance program, and other types of employment not now covered.

Of the 5,200,000 estimated unemployed in mid-February, about two million are not covered by state laws and are ineligible for any benefits.

Some members of Congress, among them Rep. McCarthy (D-Minn.) and Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.), also want to write permanent revisions into the unemployment compensation program including uniform state standards and wider coverage.

Kennedy, urging passage of his bill to make permanent changes, told the Senate temporary legislation "would do very little good and may do very great harm" through what he called "a mere facade of action."

Negroes Seized For Beating Up White Teacher

NEW YORK (AP)—A junior high school teacher was beaten and his arm broken yesterday by two students who had disrupted his class.

George Moore, 32, said two Negro boys were out in the hallway cutting up and flouting with girls in the room through a broken door pane in the James Fenimore Cooper Junior High in Harlem.

Warmup Due On Weekend

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five-day forecast: Generally fair weather except some rain about Monday or Tuesday, with precipitation averaging about one-half inch.

A warmer trend over the weekend, turning cooler Monday or Tuesday and warmer again on Wednesday. Temperatures for the period will average near normal.

Negro Group Cites Boycott As Successful

WASHINGTON (AP)—Negro leaders describe the one-day shopping boycott of five big downtown department stores that refuse to hire Negroes for sales jobs as a success.

No figures were available, however, on the number of Negroes who stayed away from the stores during the shopping ban called by a group of Negro ministers. Store officials declined comment.

The Rev. E. Franklin Jackson, chairman of the Sponsoring Committee on Equal Employment Opportunities, said: "What we wanted to do has been done. We simply wanted to register a protest against discriminatory unemployment practices. We were not trying to hurt anyone economically."

Jackson estimated in advance that 90 per cent of Washington's 300,000 Negroes, about 43 per cent of the capital city's population, would observe the boycott.

He said later he saw nothing "to cause me to change that estimate."

Swift Action Due For U. S. Highway Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic congressional leaders pushed today for quick action on the highway construction speedup bill to try to get it to President Eisenhower's desk next week.

The Senate passed the big anti-recession measure 44-4 and immediately asked for a speedy conference with the House on it. The House may take up the request today.

The bill would pour an additional $1,800,000,000 in federal-state funds into the nation's roadbuilding program this year.

It would make available 5½ billions over-all for the roadbuilding program this year, although much of the actual spending would come later. Passage of the bill is expected to provide 88,000 new jobs this year, and its sponsors say more than 500,000 eventually may be added.

The measure also for the first time would set up federal incentives to the states to regulate billboards along the 41,000-mile superhighway network — the interstate system.

The House version of the legislation, passed two weeks ago, is much less broad than the Senate bill. It does not contain any of the increased or speeded-up allotments of the Senate bill, and does not deal with billboards.

Solons Told Rigid Curbs No Solution

Union Head Cites Gov. Williams Can Speak For Himself

WASHINGTON (INS)—Walter Reuther told Senate rackets probes today they should let Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan "speak for himself" on his refusal to extradite a unionist linked by Republicans to the death of a Kohler Company worker.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, said he favored extradition of John Gunaca, Detroit bartender, to Wisconsin to stand trial for alleged assault on the late William Bersch and his son, William Bersch Jr.

But when Reuther's political foe, Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), asked the UAW chief whether he would urge Williams to extradite Gunaca, the union leader replied he had never mentioned the matter to the governor and added: "He is competent to speak for himself."

Favors Trial Removal — Reuther declared: "I believe Gunaca should be back in Wisconsin without another day's delay. . . . I also believe the district attorney should let him be tried outside Sheboygan."

He blamed the Sheboygan county district attorney for the two-state controversy over Gunaca's extradition. Reuther insisted that Sheboygan, scene of Kohler strike violence, was a "community charged with hate" and said Wisconsin officials should get Gunaca "where he can get a fair trial and where there is no question about it."

Reuther said: "If you want Governor Williams to come down here and defend his position I'm sure he will respond."

Goldwater and Sen. Karl Mundt (D-S.D.) had charged that the death of William Bersch Senior, in October 1955, was a result of a beating allegedly administered by Gunaca sixteen months earlier, on July 4, 1954.

UAW spokesmen have claimed, however, that Bersch died of a heart ailment and not as a result of the alleged fight.

Reuther told the committee that its first-year report accusing labor bosses of stealing or misusing more than ten million dollars of union funds would have had a "greater impact" on the labor movement had it been more carefully written and resulted in less sensational headlines.

He said labor is trying to put itself in order, and that the matter requires "very sober consideration."

Reuther did not spare the feelings of unionists accused of corruption especially his long time foe, Teamsters Boss James R. Hoffa.

Pick-Up Seen In Job Total During April

Labor Department Forecasts Slight Work Force Gains

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Labor Department report indicates the possibility of a slight employment pickup between mid-March and mid-May.

But it says the increases are expected to be "considerably smaller" than those in the corresponding period last year and that they will be centered largely in seasonal nonmanufacturing activities.

This estimate was based on hiring plans of employers as reported to local public employment offices.

It was included in a report which said joblessness rose between mid-January and mid-February in four fifths of the 149 major employment areas in the United States. The report said the rate of increase slowed after mid-January.

Seventy of the 149 major areas now are classed as having substantial labor surpluses. This means that in each of these 70 areas, more than 6 per cent of the total labor force is out of work.

Looking ahead until mid-May, the Labor Department report said seasonal increases may bolster factory employment in some areas "but durable goods employers in most centers look for very significant changes over the next two months."

It said some additional employment losses are expected in a number of important auto and aircraft manufacturing centers. But the report added that if employers' hiring plans materialize, "gains in the construction industry should be an important factor in increased employment as warmer weather makes work possible on many building projects."

Air Force Scans Plans To Launch Manned Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force is studying industry proposals for a soaring satellite to be capable of carrying a man through space and returning him safely to earth.

The long-range project has been named "Dyna-Soar," from the words "dynamic soaring," Lt. Gen. Donald L. Pitt, deputy chief of staff for Air Force development, told about it before a House Appropriations subcommittee.

The Air Force did not name the firms submitting proposals for the project. The Dyna-Soar ship would be launched in the manner of satellites.

Five GM Plants To Close Monday

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. says it will close five Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly divisions plants for one week starting Monday to effect what it said was an adjustment of operating schedules.

The plants are at Arlington, Tex.; Atlanta, Ga.; Linden, N. J.; Kansas City and Wilmington, Del. GM said it had no exact toll on the number of workers affected. A spokesman said employment at the various assembly plants normally ranges up to several thousand.

fore it returned to settle into its orbit. In Washington, guesses based on intelligence information lean to the possibility of a mammoth Sputnik, perhaps five or six tons, carrying a successor to the martyred dog Laika of Sputnik II.

There is an outside possibility that Soviets may try to send up a space platform — a sort of intermediate station for moon flights.

Russian Scientists Reported Working On Bigger Sputniks

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Foreign News Analyst

A mammoth Sputnik? . . . A moon-high satellite? . . . What's next in the heavenly cold war? . . . What does the Kremlin have up its sleeve in the Soviet space program?

Vague hints suggest Soviet scientists are working on something spectacular. There also are hints that Soviet politicians would like to tie the next venture to something new in the cold war: an offensive.

It's been almost five months since the Soviets launched their second artificial earth satellite, Sputnik II.

Perhaps the Soviets have been trying and failing with new launching attempts. Or perhaps they plan to time their new shoot for a propitious moment. Just in advance of a summit meeting, their next space venture would have enormous propaganda impact.

Speculation on Soviet plans runs all the way from manned devices or space platforms to "just another Sputnik."

It is even possible, say some Western scientists, that the Soviets might try to throw a Sputnik on a huge elliptical course which would take it more than 250,000 miles — beyond the moon — be-

Conservatives Lose In Vote

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan's Conservative party today suffered its third straight defeat in a special parliamentary election in six weeks.

A reviving Liberal party won a close race from the Conservatives in Torrington in the North Devon farming country.

Mark Bonham Carter, 36, grandson of former Liberal Prime Minister Lord Asquith, edged out the Conservative nominee, insurance broker Anthony H. F. Royle, 31. Laborite Leonard Lamb, 41, trailed far behind.

Japanese Star Stunned Over Winning Of Oscar

By PATRICK McNULTY
HOLLYWOOD—A—In the wee hours this morning, a tired Miyoshi Umeki took a drag on a cigarette, a sip of coffee and said: "It's all like a dream but I hope I never wake up."
Miyoshi, the button-eyed doll from Japan, said she hasn't slept since winning her Oscar as the best supporting actress for 1957 at Wednesday night's Academy Awards.
Sitting in her night club dressing room, kimono-clad Miyoshi said: "I was so surprised, I didn't think I had a chance."
Her Oscar has meant success. Hollywood-style: a flood of television and movie offers, strangers greet her like an old friend, and agents who curled their lips at the husky-voiced singer a few months ago now beat at her door.
However, her swift climb hasn't swelled the pretty head of Miyoshi, who learned English in her native Japan by memorizing American jazz lyrics.
She began seven years ago singing at a U.S. Army service club near her village of Sapporo on the island of Hokkaido. A job with a band in Tokyo followed. There, in night clubs, she told homesick GIs in song that they went to her head, or that she, too, was dreaming of a white Christmas.
Miyoshi became a recording star in her homeland. She made

Frances Farmer Married Again. In Vegas Chapel

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — (INS) — Frances Farmer, whose $200,000-a-year film career was wrecked by an emotional breakdown 15 years ago, is honeymooning today with the man largely responsible for her recent spectacular comeback as an actress.
She was married last night to Lee Mikesell, a San Francisco radio and television management consultant.
The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Thomas Daley at the Little Chapel of the West. Later there was a wedding supper at the Sands Hotel.
The flaxen-haired actress, still beautiful, gave her age as 43. Mikesell is 37.
The marriage was the third for Miss Farmer, who once played opposite such stars as Cary Grant, Ring Crosby and Tyrone Power. Her last marriage, before she broke down and spent eight years in and out of institutions, was to Actor Lief Erickson.
Since resuming her career the actress has done a stage play and has made several TV appearances. She said last night that she has a number of good TV offers and may do a picture.

Planes Collide In Air, 18 Service Men Killed

By WHITEY SAWYER
BRIDGEPORT, Tex. — Two Air Force planes rammed together at dusk yesterday and the crippled craft fell "like flakes of sheet iron." All 18 servicemen aboard died.
In a strange turn of the cards, the planes apparently were seeking greater visibility and safety by dipping below an overcast.
They were so low the occupants had no chance to parachute.
One was a huge C124 Globemaster based at Hill Air Force Base, Salt Lake City, Utah.
The other was a C119 cargo plane based at Carswell Air Force Base, the great Strategic Air Command installation at Fort Worth, 45 miles southeast of here.
The Globemaster carried a crew of 10, and five passengers picked up at Kelly Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex. The C119's crew numbered three.
The Globemaster was en route from Kelly Air Force Base, San Antonio, to Tinker Air Force Base, Oklahoma City.
The C119 took off from Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, Tex., for Carswell AFB.
The planes fell within about 600 yards of each other in rugged scrub oak country cut by ravines and gullies.
The C124 burned fiercely. Pools of molten metal glistened around the wreckage. The C119 did not burn.
Bill Carlton, Bridgeport, saw the falling wreckage from his car.
"It looked like great big flakes of sheet iron falling. You couldn't tell it was a plane," he said.
C. L. Hill, also of Bridgeport, said, "The plane coming from the south hit the wing of the one from the east (the C124)."
Hill said the C119 "fell straight down" but that the C124 "came on and it looked like he tried to pull out. Finally it came to pieces on him."
Doyle Hood, a Bridgeport High School athletic coach, said an explosion occurred in one plane.
The C119 struck a plowed field, missing W. J. Mann by only a few feet. It ricocheted into a wooded area. Mann was plowing with a tractor.

Hunt Continues For Tots' Bodies In Bus Tragedy

PRESTONSBURG, Ky. — (AP) — Maybe tomorrow we'll have success, national guardsmen say as they continue the fruitless search for seven children drowned in the swollen, twisting Big Sandy River.
One month ago today a school bus loaded with 47 children and their driver careened into the river. Twenty-six youngsters and the driver drowned. Twenty-one others escaped from the nation's worst disaster involving children.
The last of 20 victims found was discovered March 5.
Small boats have plied the river as far downstream as Catlettsburg where the Big Sandy flows into the Ohio River.

Mine Workers' Union Swings Economy Axe And Eliminates One Of Top Jobs

PITTSBURGH (AP)—An economy axe cut out one of the top jobs in the United Mine Workers Dist. 5 today.

Delegates to the union's annual convention voted unanimously to eliminate one of the three major offices in the district, and to combine the two remaining posts.

UMW Dist. 5, comprising Allegheny, and Washington counties and parts of Fayette and Westmoreland Counties, has been declining sharply as a coal producing center in recent years. President John P. Busarello told the convention yesterday that there now are only about 7,300 working miners, compared to 16,300 in 1954.

member, held respectively by Busarello and Joseph Yablonski, of Clarksville. Busarello, 70, has been president for 16 years at an annual salary of $10,572.

Busarello declined any immediate comment on a report circulating among convention delegates that he plans to retire. This would leave the dual post of president and international board member to Yablonski, who also is a veteran leader of the union.

The shuffle in the Dist. 5 top echelon has been under consideration for more than a year as the result of dropping union dues revenue.

FBI Grabs Cop Killer After Tip

BALTIMORE (AP)—A tattooed cop killer who posed as a male nurse was nabbed by the FBI last night, only a few hours after he made the 10 Most Wanted list.

Eugene R. McCracken, 43, was unarmed and gave up without resistance when authorities acted on the tip of an alert citizen who saw the fugitive's picture in the Baltimore News-Post.

McCracken, described earlier as a "dangerous felon," had been going by the name of Richard George Kirkman. He had worked as a male nurse for an invalid doctor for several months.

McCracken was convicted of slaying John Mills, a Kingsport, Tenn., police officer in 1940. Mills had come across McCracken and a companion in a thicket two days after a jailbreak at Bristol, Tenn. McCracken broke out of the Tennessee State Penitentiary in October 1955.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

The Great Thaw

THE GREAT THAW seems to have arrived in Washington. The White House and Congress are beginning to send out a flood of anti-recession measures calculated to reinvigorate stagnating economic waters. It remains to be seen how effective these measures are, and whether others will be taken in time to bring maximum results, but on the whole this is most welcome news. The actions now under way will do much more good than all the statements we have been hearing to the effect that the American economy was basically sound and healthy.

THOUGH SUCH TALK always seems encouraging, what it means is open to question. A healthy body might not remain healthy if nothing were done to promote and preserve health. We have not only a rising population, but an increase in the number of non-productive citizens at both ends of the age range. There are more children and more of the aging in our population than there used to be. They are consumers who do not produce. Also, the consumption needs and wants of the American people as a whole have increased.

THE NATION CAN now produce more than it needs, mainly because of greater efficiency and advances in technology. Services must be expanded, and provision must be made for the future needs of a growing population. This means more schools, hospitals and libraries, constant improvement of airports and roads. Government, from the local to the federal level, must spend in these areas. How can government spend constructively? This is a major question in our economy today. It is one of the questions which must be answered by positive action if the American economy is to remain sound and healthy.

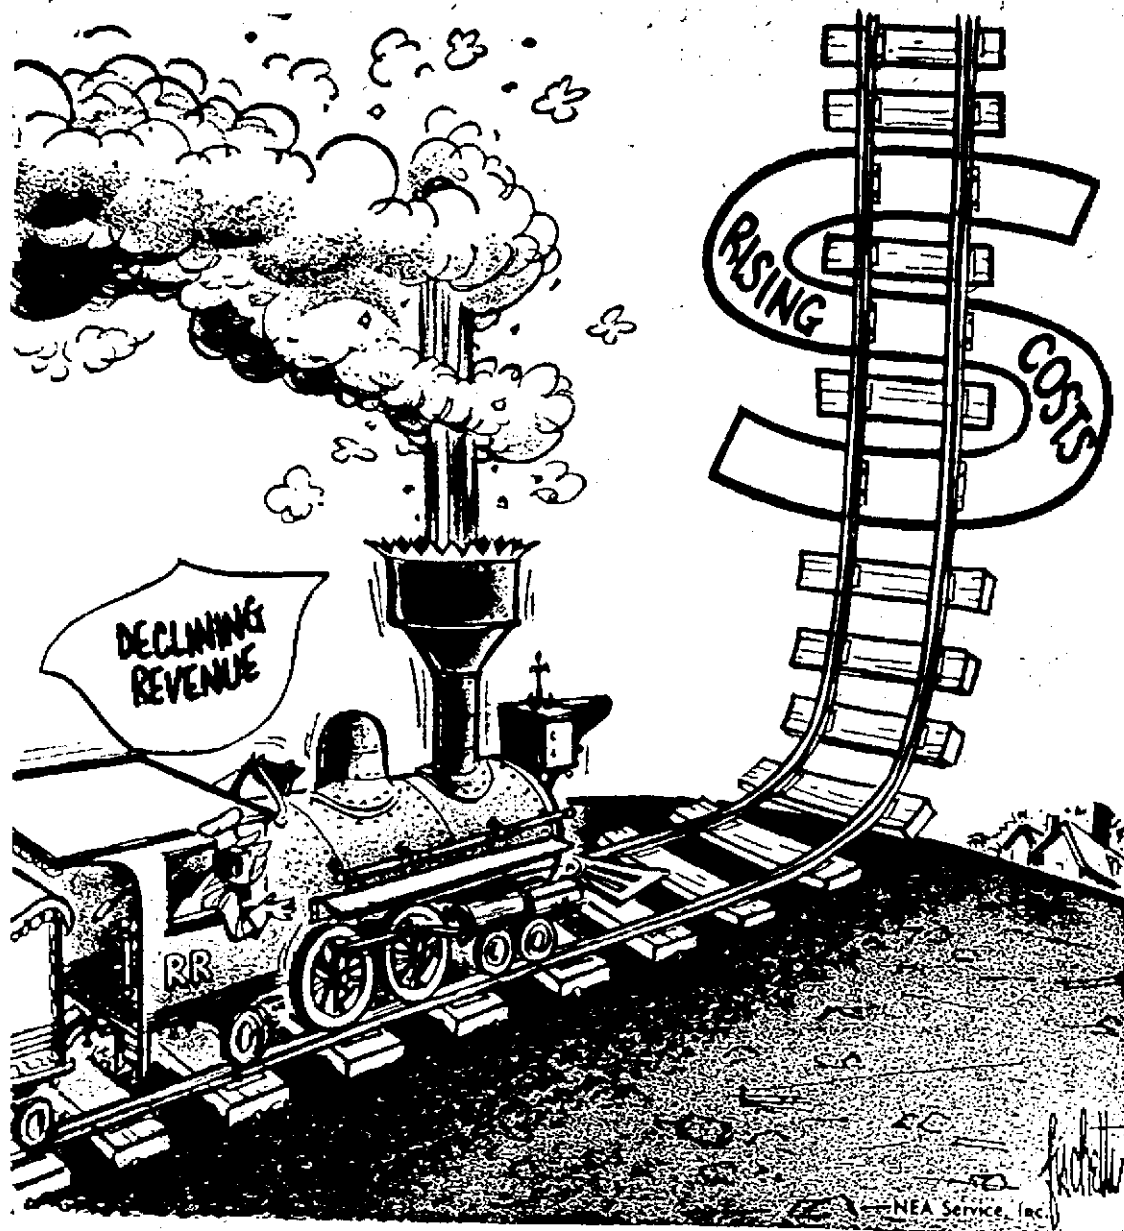

Practical Estimate

ADLAI E. STEVENSON put the summit proposition of the Soviet leaders succinctly: "Let's get together and make propaganda." There is still no evidence that the Kremlin seeks an understanding on any terms but its own, and the Kremlin terms are dangerous and could even be suicidal for the Western nations. In the present situation internationally, some distinctions must be kept clearly in mind. The causes of the world crisis are many. The danger of war existed before there was a Soviet Union and there might never have been a Soviet Union but for the First World War. But the danger of war involving the Soviet Union is related to that nation, to its form and structure of government, to certain aspects of its ideology, and to the leaders in the Kremlin, especially Khrushchev. A summit meeting cannot eliminate causes of war. A summit meeting should be estimated practically, and in terms of the personalities involved and their intentions insofar as we can grasp these intentions. Thus Khrushchev's famous boast that he and his clique will "bury" us should be evaluated as one indication of Kremlin intentions. Furthermore, a summit conference should not be evaluated by means of formal and abstract principles. The danger of falling overboard in abstractions is now great. Sincere and honest men, able in their own field, often fall overboard because they are almost totally inexperienced in dealing with, analyzing and clearly grasping the features and trends of world politics, and most importantly, the politics of the Kremlin.

Thought For Spring

SPRING FOSTERS mostly pleasant thoughts. The passing of the vernal equinox sets us all to dreaming of new growth, and happy summer times. One unpleasant thought needs to be mentioned. Dr. LeRoy Burney, the United States surgeon general, brought it up when he noted that thousands of Americans may suffer in a "serious outbreak" of poliomyelitis this summer if Salk vaccinations are not speeded up. Dr. Burney said that some 48,500-60,000 Americans under 40, including 19 million under 20, have not yet received the vaccine. This is not because vaccine has not been available; it is ready in great quantity. Whatever the reasons, the fact remains. If you or your children have not received this protection against dread polio, prompt action may still forestall a summer tragedy.

House Likely To Change In November

WASHINGTON — Next November's election contains seeds of change as profound as those which occur when the White House changes parties.

The strong Democratic tide which some fearful Republicans believe will result in the loss of as many as 100 seats in the House of Representatives can well bring into office a Congress with a liberal flavor not seen here since 1936.

Democratic gains will have to come from areas outside the South. If they are realized, they will have to come from such states as New York, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and New Jersey, all of which have heavily Republican House delegations at present. Farm discontent is also expected to cut into Republican strength in Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, and Wisconsin.

IN THE FAR West, the Democrats, who improved their Congressional position considerably in 1956 despite the Eisenhower landslide, may make further gains. California's House delegation, in which Republicans now have a 17 to 13 advantage, could see that advantage reversed.

In the Senate races, 21 Republican seats will be at issue as against 12 Democratic. The minimum gain Democrats are claiming here is four, but the estimates go all the way to 10.

If the Democrats could manage to win 10 seats, they would maintain control of the Senate until 1962 — barring acts of God.

WHAT IS significant in these Democratic hopes is that, if they are realized, they would result in a Congress with something of the complexion of those in the early years of the New deal. It would mean the end of the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition which in varying degrees has ruled Congress since 1936.

Southerners would still have their powerful chairmanships by virtue of seniority. Nevertheless, legislation important to liberals would have clearer sailing than it has had in more than a score of years.

Democratic optimism is providing an immediate payoff. Attractive candidates are easy to come by. Governor Edmund S. Muskie of Maine has now decided to run against Republican Senator Frederick G. Payne, for example. Democrats always have trouble about money, yet here, too, the party is no longer singing the blues with such deep feeling.

REPUBLICANS, who got a sharp jolt in last month's narrow squeak over a Minnesota House seat, have decided to avoid all special elections possible.

Attorney General William P. Rogers has poured cold water on all plans to appoint Republican Congressmen to vacant judgeships. The demand for such appointments has been rising as Republican election hopes have fallen.

In Wisconsin, where there is a House seat vacant from the First District, normally strongly Republican, Governor Vernon W. Thomson has refused to call an election at all for fear a Democratic victory would give further impetus to that party's expectations.

Work Law Is Still In Books But Dusty

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — What ever happened to "The Full Employment Act?" It wasn't repealed. But it doesn't seem to be working.

Back in 1946, as most of World War II's survivors should remember, Congress passed with great flair and flourish this bill to overcome the old cycles of business boom and bust. The rallying cry was, "Sixty million jobs." Some people thought that ridiculous, even impossible.

For the prospect at the time was that the war boom would soon end. The country was supposed to be headed for a bust in which there might be eight million unemployed.

Of course it didn't happen that way. Wartime shortages had created such a demand for goods and services that the country went in a long boom. Instead of a mere 60 million jobs, there were 67 million employed last July.

This was not because Congress passed any law, but in spite of it. For now, 12 years later, the country finds itself with over five million unemployed, though 62 million are working. But what went wrong with the act?

THE GOVERNMENT has gone through the motions of complying with its provisions. The Presidents—both Truman and Eisenhower—have sent Congress fancy messages on how to maintain full employment, with many statistics as required.

The Congressional Economic Committee has held elaborate hearings on the President's messages, every year. The committee has thereupon filed annual reports to which nobody paid much attention because they weren't needed.

For all practical purposes the Full Employment Act has been a dead letter of the law because it wasn't needed. There has been full employment without government action, or in spite of it. If you want to put it that way.

But this situation has changed now. And if ever there was a time when the country needed full employment, this is it. What, then, are the provisions of the law which should have been carried out to insure full employment?

A RUNDOWN on the law's text is enlightening.

It says that, "All Americans able to work and desiring to work are entitled to an opportunity for useful, remunerative, regular and full-time employment."

In order to assure this right, the federal government is committed by the Full Employment Act to develop and pursue a carefully planned economic program, to do four things:

1. Assist private enterprise to provide the largest feasible volume of job opportunities, through an expanding production and distribution of goods and services.
2. Stimulate state and local governments to do the same.

So They Say

There is a potential of two million jobs in various measures pending before Congress.

—Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson.

The first successful flight (to the moon) would advance scientific knowledge by a hundred years.

—Charles E. Bartley, president of firm that manufactured third-stage rocket which pushed Vanguard I into orbit.

The Russians are the most pro-American people in the world — they like jazz, movies and other things connected with the American way of life. — The Russians, aside from the government, have no resentment against Americans.

—Movie producer Mike Todd.

With God's help we shall attain the lofty objective for which our great-grandfathers fought the great Arab Revolt and the day will come when comprehensive Arab unity will be realized.

BILL KILLED — At Annapolis today, the House rejected the proposal calling for an investigation to be made to determine the practicability of the establishment of a municipal power plant for Cumberland. Delegate Robert D. Kimble (R-Allegany), author of the proposal, declared "our people in Cumberland are being robbed by the high charges made by the power trust."

STALE BREAD LEGAL — A measure designed to prohibit the return of stale bread rested in the legislative graveyard today as the result of action by the House in tabling it last night.

Whitney Bolton

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — I don't think Mike Todd was rich in the gift of prophecy, but I remember a time when he sat in the executive dining room at Columbia Pictures in California — it was sometime in the fall of 1945 — and when lunch was over he lit a long, truculent cigar for all the world as though he had a million dollars instead of owing it and he said: "Colonel, I can lay two things out flat for you without a wrinkle in them." And as things turned out, he was right: they didn't have a wrinkle in them.

MIKE WAS supposed to have been broke and hocked to the bankers at that time. I wouldn't know. My boss, the now late Harry Cohn, thought Mike was broke.

He said, later that afternoon, "There was something about the way Mike swaggered into the dining room and the way he lit that two-buck cigar. He's that way when he hasn't a quarter. But I'll tell you this: if he asked me for $50,000 right now I'd give it to him. I think I would. He is a man who, if he says 'I'll pay you,' he'll pay you. He'll eat dirt and scrub tile to do it. But he didn't ask me for it or anything else."

ANYWAY, MOST of the film makers, directors and better-than-$1,000-a-week writers had gone back to their tasks. The less than $1,000 writers didn't lunch in that room, which is how I knew what they earned. We were three alone, and kidding: Cohn, Todd and Bolton.

Cutting up touches, being a little insulting and I'm not going to say that that was the day Mike uttered his since famous quote "I've often been broke, but I've never been poor." Because he didn't. What he talked about between needing both of us was his future and he said it in blunt terms:

"When I go out it will be fast and with my hand on the handle-end of maybe thirty million dollars, maybe more. I'm going out like a rocket, shooting fire and sparks and loud noises."

THAT WAS prophecy No. 1, and it was accurate. Mike went out last week-end with a grasp on $50,000,000 or more (thanks to the spectacular "Around the World in Eighty Days"), he went out fast and like a rocket in a dead airplane, pointed nose-first for the hard, rocky earth. I'm sure the loud noises were there, too.

After a few minutes, we went on to less fiscal matters and, kidding, he went back to his future death.

"I'll have the $30,000,000, chief, and you know what you'll be doing? Wondering how much money you have in the bank and doing something dull like painting a porch or your children's room."

PROPHECY No. 2 doesn't come out quite as accurately or free of wrinkles as the first one. But it is so uncannily close, we won't argue about it.

The telephone rang the other morning and I wasn't thinking of whether there was any money in the bank. I was thinking that if I could finish painting my children's room by 3 p. m., that would give me time to get to the hardware store to buy new brass handles for a bureau they have. It was as dull as that.

The telephone rang and my wife said, "It's for you." And I grumbled and said: "Why does the telephone have to ring every time I have paint on my hands and shirt and what I'm doing will begin to dry before I get off the phone and make streaks when I start again?"

I GRABBED a rag and soaked it in paint thinner and got most of the stuff off my hands and went to the telephone.

"Mike Todd was just killed in an airplane accident out West," the man said. "Did you know a writer named Art Cohn, too?"

Yes, I'd known Art, too. I put the telephone back and remembered an afternoon almost 13 full years ago: "... like painting a porch or your children's room."

HIS TWO prophecies that day were, seen now, amazing. Todd was amazing, a real spectacular, a buzz-bomb, a seething, restless, uncannily smart and able man, not totally the promoter it is too easy to call him, not totally the wild gambler or reckless, feckless spendthrift.

I think, maybe, Mike Todd was unique. And, in his way, rather wonderful.

Here's A Lurid Little Book

WASHINGTON — I've been poring over a lurid, paperback (green paper) book with the unlikely title of Interim Report of the Select Committee on Improper Activities in the Labor or Management Field.

Improper is hardly a strong enough word. This 200,000-word volume was written with considerable literary style by Senator John L. McClellan and the Dave Becks, the Jimmy Hoffas and the other chieftains of five labor unions under investigation now for more than a year.

Its subject matter ranges from free Cadillacs and yachts for certain moguls to downright skulduggeries, and from comedy (such as the taste for caviar of two Chicago worthies) to a little drama providing that it doesn't pay for even a bigwig in labor ranks to monkey with the FBI. You can't fool those G-Men.

THIS particular tale (and it's just a sample of what the Senators turned up) concerns San Francisco Local 3 of the Operating Engineers Union, which maintained a yacht for the use of its officers and an airplane which President Patrick Clancy once flew smack into San Francisco Bay. Clancy and the other officers all claimed they didn't have much to do with running the union because they said Victor S. Swanson was the boss.

The Senators detailed Swanson's numerous real estate deals and told how he and a friend sold to his union a piece of property for $15,150. Swanson's regime of Local 3 apparently irritated some of the members, who called themselves the Construction Stiffs. They wanted a new deal and said so as loudly as possible in a publication they called "The Construction Stiffs News."

MANAGEMENT never could discover the identity of the Construction Stiffs' leaders. It even hired an ex-convict, Joseph Riley, to ferret out the Stiffs.

"The fight against the Construction Stiffs had a serious consequence for Victor Swanson," the Senators continued. "After all other efforts had failed to find out who belonged to this dissident group, Swanson decided to enlist the aid of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to find them."

"He did this by intercepting a letter written by the Construction Stiffs to Riley and inserting a death threat in the correspondence. The death threat was then turned over to the FBI on the theory that the Federal agency would investigate such a threat being sent through the mail and discover who the senders were.

"THIS PLAN backfired when the FBI discovered that the death threat had been forged. Swanson was indicted in San Francisco for giving false statements to the FBI, pleaded nolo contendere in a Federal court, and was placed on two years' probation and forced to pay the government $7,500 to reimburse the FBI for the cost of its investigation.

"The union ended up holding part of the bag in this deal with the expenditure of $10,000 out of its defense fund for Mr. Swanson's legal fees."

THE SENATORS had more, much more, to say about the operations of Swanson, Clancy and friends. The lawgivers sent their testimony to the Justice Department for investigation, because they said it indicated flagrant perjury.

The committee concluded then by saying it believed Swanson and four other Local 3 moguls were unfit to hold any union office.

'Out Of Shape'

ALMOST EVERY man, at one time or another, comes to the glum conclusion that he is "out of shape."

Though shape in the sense of configuration does not enter into this, what a man really means when he says he is "out of shape" is that his muscles don't function the way they used to. Or the way, at any rate, that he likes to think they used to function.

When a man reaches this stage, he pictures himself in youth as a veritable Adonis for lithe speed and strength. He recalls that he could hike all day, run 100 yards in about 10 seconds, and play three sets of tennis before breakfast. It seems to him that in that golden era he was prime Olympic material.

Now, alas, he has the unmistakable beginning of a bay window. He is short of wind, and his heart pumps alarmingly if he so forgets himself as to run up a flight of stairs. Should he chop down a tree, or play a snappy game of catch with his son, his aching muscles will remind him of the escapade for days to come.

There are two ways of dealing with such a situation. One is to bow, with what grace one can muster, to the advance of age and infirmity. The other is to settle down to the task of getting back into shape.

A man of middle years can't expect to be as swift and tireless as he was at 20, let alone as he pictures his athletic youth. But he can trim down the frontal bulge; he can improve his wind, and get back some of the old muscle tone.

Hal Boyle

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK — Sidewalk scrawls of a Pavement Plato:

Some people say that, if they had the chance, they'd like to live their life all over again—repeating it step by step.

Such people do not impress me as being either happy or wise. They do not even impress me as being human. They impress me as being merely vocal phonograph records, too dizzy from their circular rut to make common sense.

The only real fun in contemplating a second life on earth lies in figuring how you would make it different. And if I had this chance, believe me, there'd be some changes made.

FOR EXAMPLE: I'd inherit money. A man born to money is like a duck in a pond. But a man who has to fight for wealth is like a hen in a brook. He is always out of his element.

I would learn to play at least two instruments, so I could make music of my own, and not have to choose always between Beethoven and Elvis Presley. Some days it is better to make your own music.

At the age of five I would start brushing my teeth regularly three times a day and seeing my dentist at least twice a year.

Then, if I still had to buy store molars before I was 50, I'd know whether to blame it on myself or heredity.

I would not quit the Boy Scouts at 13 just because a pretty red-haired girl moved into the house across the street.

If you stay with the scouts you will learn to find your way out of your forest. But once you get interested in red-haired girls you never get out of the woods.

I WOULD LEARN to play bridge, enjoy caviar and become an authority on the mystique of martini making. To do these things is hard work for some of us, but who gets ahead in civilization if he always tries to duck hard work?

I would never pursue romance with a girl who refused to lend me money first. Women are most aware of the value of money. If they won't invest their cash in you, they won't invest their heart either.

I would make it an inflexible rule to get eight hours sleep every night and always get to bed by midnight.

Most of the mistakes a man regrets are made when he's sleepy or it's after midnight. Most of the mistakes he enjoys are made before midnight and while he is wide awake.

If I did all these things, my second life might not be any better than my present one, but at least it would be different—and I'd know the difference. That's something.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — So rapidly and unobtrusively that few outside Washington have yet grown aware of it, a 36-year-old college professor has become the "Third Man" at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue. Robert Keith Gray has been elevated to a double role, never entrusted to one man before. He not only screens all the White House patronage, but all of President Eisenhower's appointments.

His surname describes him. This prematurely-gray young man is listed only as a secretary. But he has six secretaries working for him. In an average 10-hour-a-day, six-day week, they weed as many as 600 seekers after Presidential favors, and more than 300 applicants for audiences with the President.

Thomas E. Stephens has just been reappointed as the President's "appointments secretary," but Gray still has charge of the screening.

THE EX-PROF works like a beaver, even if a curious lady who lives across the street from him entertains other ideas. The young bachelor dwells alone in a tiny, remodeled house at 1415 27th St., in Georgetown. Directly opposite, at 1412, lives Mrs. Susan Clegg.

A squib appeared in the paper the other day that a White House limousine calls for Mr. Gray every morning promptly at 7:15. Mrs. Clegg telephoned me, unsolicited, to set this important issue straight. She said the limousine calls for her influential neighbor at 7:15 all right, but that he seldom gets into it before 7:30.

For all his professional background, Mr. Gray has a delicate sense of humor. He informs friends he has a swimming pool in his garden and invites them to make use of it when the weather gets warmer. The "garden" is about 10 x 10 and the "swimming pool" is a small wheel, about four feet in diameter. Mr. Gray explains:

"It will hold about two very friendly people."

The "Third Man" has a remarkable history. After attending Columbia and Harvard he returned to his native city, Hastings, Neb., as a teacher at Hastings College. After that he taught at Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., and went from there to the University of Southern California as a professor in business administration.

At U.S.C. he conceived the unprofessional notion that if he could teach business he could also practice it. He returned to Hastings, talked some monied friends into putting up cash, and ventured into the warehousing business. It mushroomed. Now he has thirteen profitable warehouses in Nebraska, Iowa, and Minnesota.

ONE WHO OBSERVED his astounding success was Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton, who also comes from Hastings. Seaton mentioned him to Ike, who mentioned him to Sherm, who induced Gray to take a furlough from warehousing and join the White House secretariat.

Gray was assigned to assist Sherm with patronage, then put in charge of it, then—when Bernard Shanley quit as appointments secretary last Nov. 5 to run for senator from New Jersey—was quickly handed Shanley's job too.

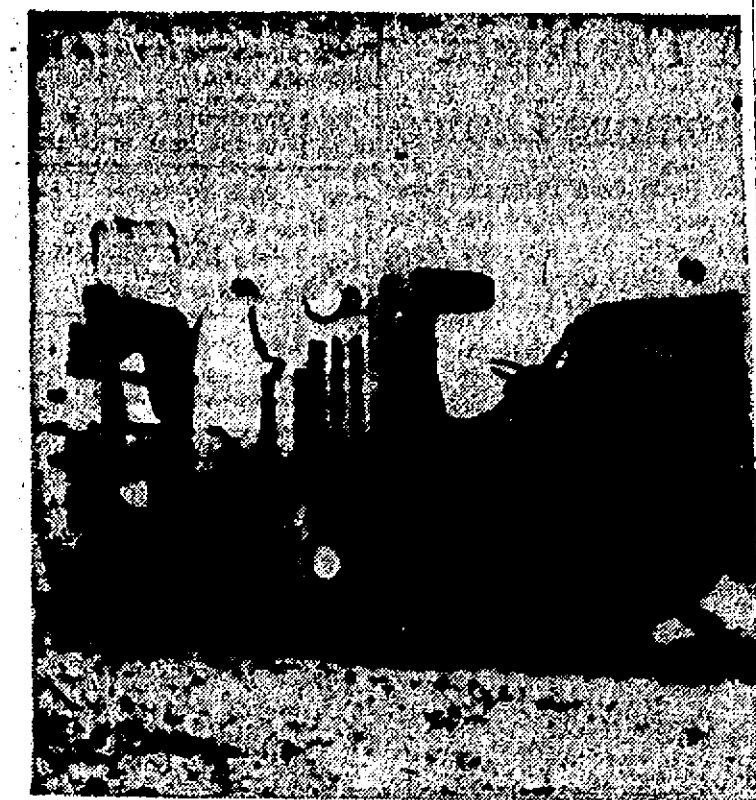

He confides that he goes to ruthless measures to break up audiences.

"I burst in, looking at my watch," he says. "Or I hand the President a reminder that time is up in 'Idiot Type'—you know, the huge radio-script type that anyone can read. I 'inadvertently' place it so the over-time visitor can read it."

Mr. Gray says his biggest trouble in maintaining anything like a schedule comes from the himself. He explains:

"The President becomes interested in what the caller is saying and urges him to stay."

Underwood Sees Need Of Planning To Grow

W. Va. Farm Land Use To Be Expanded

BECKLEY (AP) — Demands upon West Virginia to provide water, food, timber and recreation will multiply many times "if we are to realize in any measure the potential growth from industrial expansion," Gov. Underwood said today.

"This is the proper time to plan for the state's future resources requirements," he added.

Underwood's remarks were prepared for delivery here at a luncheon meeting of the West Virginia Conference on Water and Related Natural Resources.

He said it should be up to the state to supply the leadership to cooperate with citizens in achieving these objectives.

"Extension of an aggressive conservation education program; immediate organization of an effort for greater development of potential water resources; focusing greater attention on state forest lands, and expansion of outdoor recreation facilities.

Underwood outlined the steps that are under way in the direction of those aims. Conservation education programs now carried on by the Conservation Department and the Department of Education "should be extended to all schools, colleges and universities," he said.

As to forests, the governor said laws should be amended "to strengthen forest management and to provide greater help in protecting them from fire and disease. The state's current efforts to attract woodworking and wood-using industries should be expanded."

Underwood noted that he has called a conference on forest fire protection, to be held at White Sulphur Springs in July.

"I hope this effort will help to make the public more conscious of our forest potential," he said.

Expansion of outdoor recreational facilities, Underwood continued, should now emphasize small fishing lakes, public hunting areas and small local parks.

"Upon completion of our present state park system, if properly advertised and promoted, they can be a powerful tourist attraction. We now need greater and more extensive facilities within easy reach of the average family in the state.

"I believe we should explore the possibility of a joint effort between the state and local governments," he said.

A program for greater development of water resources, Underwood said, should include an inventory of surface and underground waters, cooperation with the federal water resource program, assistance to flood and drought-stricken communities, organization of water rights plans and technical assistance to municipalities in need of water for domestic and recreational purposes.

Underwood spoke at the first session of the two-day conference sponsored by the West Virginia Chamber of Commerce.

Jaycees To Elect Eight Directors

Eight directors will be elected for two-year terms at the next meeting of the Junior Association of Commerce Wednesday at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Kenneth J. Williams, chairman of the nominating committee, has submitted a list of 13 nominees for the directorships.

The nominees are Lawrence K. Brady, Glen R. Brant, Francis Deremer, W. Bruce Douglas, Edward E. Eyer, Walter R. Hensel, William R. Kirk Jr., Raymond H. Lapp Jr., Lewis Millholland III, Ronald J. Screen, Casper R. Taylor Jr., William Walsh and Bernard Warren.

Altamont Terrace Made One-Way Route

Altamont Terrace has been designated as a one-way street south from Baltimore to Harrison streets, the Police Department announces.

Officer Joseph H. Stutcher, of the traffic detail, said the change was made at noon yesterday and was working well in the afternoon.

He said the plan was adopted because lines of cars coming down Baltimore Street Hill have been preventing cars from getting out of Park Street.

Easy Carpet Cleaning Discovery Hailed

What is said to be the easiest and "cleanest" rug cleaner, known as Blue Lustre, is available after years of research.

Blue Lustre leaves no foreign residue to cause rapid resoiling. The pile is left open and fluffy as the colors spring out like magic. So easy to apply with a long handle brush (like playing cards) and is safe for all types of carpets.

Use Blue Lustre to clean the entire carpet or remove spots and traffic lanes. It's economical as 1/2 gallon of concentrate cleans three 9 x 12 rugs.

Hoxsey Clinic Action Held Up By County

EBENESBURG, Pa. (U)—Cambria County Court has set no date for acting on articles of incorporation filed by officials of the controversial Hoxsey Cancer Clinic at nearby Portage.

The articles, aimed at making the institution a non-profit corporation, were filed yesterday. Six directors were listed as incorporators. They are:

John J. Haluska, former state senator; A. A. Nelson, Cambria County judge; Samuel J. Einhorn, Johnstown; Dr. J. H. Benko, and Dr. Harry A. Stegman, both of Portage; and Dr. Harold F. Galbraith, Patton.

The American Medical Assn., has said the cancer treatment used by the clinic is worthless.

The clinic is prohibited from treating out of state patients by a Federal District Court injunction.

Monroe County, West Virginia, was the home of Spanish-American war hero Andrew S. Rowan who carried the message that later was immortalized in Elbert Hubbard's classic, "A Message to Garcia."

Voiceless Railroader Communicates By Phone

HAGERSTOWN (U)—William C. Fleigh, 70, a retired train dispatcher for the Western Maryland Railway, can no longer talk, but he can still communicate with several of his former co-workers with ease by telephone.

Fleigh communicates by telegraphy. After an operation in which his larynx was removed Fleigh decided to contact some of his former associates who still master the now almost vanished skill of telegraphy.

By using a telegraph sounder placed at the mouthpiece of a telephone he uses the Morse code to handle his end of the conversation.

Fleigh learned and used telegraphy when it was the sole means of communication both in the dispatching of trains and message work over the entire Western Maryland rail system. It has been abandoned for eight years.

He can handle 25 or 30 words a minute on the sounder.

In spite of the many new facts being learned about the nature of cancer, the only known effective ways of treating it now are surgery and radiant energy, reports the American Cancer Society.

Rigid Rules Harmful, Says Psychologist

BALTIMORE (U)—A University of Maryland psychologist warns that rigid company rules can cause frustration, bitterness and inefficiency among employees and even desertion.

Dr. Allen R. Soles told a human relations seminar at Johns Hopkins University yesterday that here are the kind of things that cause resentment:

Gongs terminating coffee breaks. That's too much regimentation, said Soles.

The caste system. For example, the executive dining room and the junior employees' cafeteria. That's excessive hierarchical stratification, he said.

"Company rules are not automatically sacred," Dr. Soles commented, but if some companies act as if they are, then he said you can't blame an oppressed employee from saying something like this:

"I hear we're going to have to punch clocks at the next picnic."

Dredge Work Contract Let

BALTIMORE (U)—Atkinson Dredging Co. of Baltimore was named by the Army Engineers today as the apparently low bidder on a contract for new work dredging off the Virginia coast.

The project involves dredging from Chesapeake Bay to Little Machipongo Inlet and from Kegons Bay to Chincoteague Bay, in Accomack and Northampton counties. All material except ledge rock must be dredged six feet below mean low water and 60 feet wide.

Atkinson bid $24,515,20 on the contract, compared with the $229,140.80 offer of American Dredging Co. of Philadelphia, second low bidder. Six other bids ranged up to $420,900.20, compared with the $280,002 the government estimated the project would cost.

TWUA Will Hear Contract Report

Reports on contract negotiations will be given members of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America at meetings Tuesday and Wednesday.

John G. Thomas, president, said the meetings will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. and Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the union hall.

Negotiators for the union and the Celanese Corporation of America on Wednesday completed a two-day negotiating session which was termed exploratory.

Further sessions are planned next Tuesday and Wednesday at 10 a.m.

The present contract covering 1,800 to 2,000 hourly paid workers at the Amcelle plant is due to expire April 8.

Arkansas is one of the few states of the Union that boasts five major soil types.

Doomed Man Appeals To High Court

Convicted Slayer Sentenced To Die In Gas Chamber

ANNAPOLIS (U)—A 22-year-old Baltimore man, sentenced to die in the gas chamber for the slaying of a Baltimore County matron, has asked Maryland's highest court to reverse his conviction.

Carl Daniel Kier was convicted last Oct. 9 in his second trial for the brutal slaying of Mrs. John H. Bopst Jr.

The judges based their verdict largely on the testimony of Robert Washington, 21, of Manchester, Md. Washington testified that Kier admitted the slaying of Mrs. Bopst while both men were inmates in the Baltimore County Jail. Both men are Negroes.

The judges stated that "a complete, unbroken chain of circumstances . . . leaves no doubt . . . that the defendant is guilty."

Defense attorneys yesterday asked the Court of Appeals to reverse the conviction on grounds of insufficient evidence.

They said the verdict "does not appear to be based upon the evidence presented at the trial . . . and it would appear that the court arrived at a verdict of guilty . . . by virtue of inference and suggestions, and not on direct or circumstantial evidence."

The court took the case under advisement.

Scouts Quality To Advance

A number of Boy Scouts of Potomac Council have passed advancement tests, J. L. Towler, advancement chairman, reports.

The members of the various troops who were passed by the boards of review of the troops were:

James Cole, Post 17, Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, Star; Howard F. Van Horn, Troop 89, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Second Class; Charles Formwalt, Anthony Amato, Charles Coffman, Joseph Foley, William Van Horn, David Cope, Garry Ball and Carl Showers, all of Troop 13, First Presbyterian Church, all qualified for Second Class; Paul Peiffer, Troop 17, Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, to First Class; Herbert Henry, Troop 7, Cumberland Rotary Club, Second Class.

Highest peak in New York state is Mount Marcy, 5,343 feet high, in the Adirondack Mountains.

General Business Index Shows Rise

PITTSBURGH (U)—The University of Pittsburgh's Bureau of Business Research reports its seasonally adjusted index of general business was 81.3 per cent of the 1947-49 average last week compared with 80.6 per cent the previous week.

The bureau said district steel mills worked at 55.5 per cent of practical capacity.

Thirty of Ohio's counties have commercial canneries, which operate more than 125 plants.

The Liberty cap has long been a symbol of freedom.

Plant Protection Urged

CLARKSBURG (U)—Former Gov. Marland said here last night that "regardless of our foreign relations, the industries of West Virginia must be protected."

Now seeking Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate in the August primary, Marland said that as governor he fought constantly for the protection of the coal industry against unlimited importation of residual oil.

"In my opinion," Marland told a newsman here, "the protection of the pottery and glass industries will depend upon strict quotas" with respect to imports of foreign goods.

The New Germany Club will meet Thursday at 12:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Harry Hummel. The group is planning to meet early in order to give the February demonstration which had been canceled because of weather conditions at that time. Mrs. Delwood Merrill and Mrs. Bernard Merrill will give the clothing demonstration and Miss Zella Broadwater will present the Civil Defense report.

The Swallow Falls Club will meet Thursday at 7 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Warnick. Mrs. Warnick will give the clothing demonstration. Mrs. James Pennington plans to give the February demonstration on "Restyling and Making Over Furniture."

A group of homemakers plan to meet Thursday at the home of Mrs. Allen Baker at 7:30 p. m. to discuss the National Home Demonstration Week program to be held May 6 in the Accident fire hall. Those meeting are Mrs. Jesse Woods, Mrs. William Harman, Mrs. Harry Edwards and Mrs. Francis Spoerlein.

Plummer Given Doctorate Degree In Church History

FROSTBURG — Kenneth M. Plummer, assistant professor of religion and director of religious activities at Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Iowa, was awarded the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in the field of church history at the 277th convocation of the University of Chicago.

Dr. Plummer is a graduate of Beall High School, Western Maryland College at Westminster and Garrett Biblical Institute, Evansville, Ind. Before joining the staff at Cornell College, he served pastorates in West Virginia, Wisconsin and Illinois. He is a member of the Rock River Annual Conference of the Methodist Church, the National Association of Biblical Instructors and the American Society of Church History.

Dr. Plummer is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Plummer, 140 Frost Avenue. His wife is the former Ann H. Fresh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Asa J. Fresh, Cumberland. The Plummers have two children, Kenneth Allen, a member of the Air Force, Seymour Johnson Air Base, Goldsboro, N.C., and David Jerome, at home.

Attending the ceremonies, besides his parents, were his brother and sister-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. Walter L. Plummer, Lakeside, Ohio.

Studies Lighting
The Frostburg Homemakers met recently in the home service room of the Potomac Edison with Miss Katherine Close as hostess. Miss Close gave a demonstration on "How to Have Your Home Properly Lighted."

Mrs. Perry Myers, president, gave an Easter reading and presented each member with a gift. Refreshments were served to the 35 attending.

Piano Recital Set

Tri-Towns Fire Company 1 Short Of Funds For Truck

PIEDMONT — The Tri-Towns Fire Company 1 fund drive for a new truck to be delivered in May is $900 short of the amount needed for a down payment, according to Chief Raymond Lee.

As there are about 150 coin collection cards out, firemen will meet tomorrow at 1 p. m. at the fire hall to collect these cards. Those not collected should be turned in to the Tri-Towns Cut-Rate Store as soon as possible.

Bids were opened at a recent meeting for 1,200 feet of new hose, two new fog and straight stream nozzles, and one Y and foam unit. These items will complete equipment necessary for the new truck.

The order was accepted by the American-LaFrance Company of Elmira, N. Y., and the equipment will be shipped immediately so it will be here when the truck arrives.

To Attend Meet

Seventeen Senior Girl Scouts of the Tri-Towns area and their leaders who will attend the All-Maryland Girl Scout Conference at Dumbarton Junior High School tomorrow.

They are Nancy Miller, Patricia Kelley, Diane Baldwin, Julie Beth Marmolen, Peggy Hitt, Carole Lee Whitfield, Bonnie Kookan, Marlan Cave and Margaret Strong of Mrs. Alton Fortney's troop of Luke.

Police Quiz Six In Series Of Escapades

KEYSER — Six area youths, ranging in age from 18 to 22, were questioned by Prosecuting Attorney Donald C. Holt and Maryland State Police on a series of escapades Monday night that has already resulted in the jailing of one and the filing of charges against two others.

In Mineral County jail is Lynwood Thorn, 22, McMullen Highway, who was sentenced to a 60-day term by Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle after pleading guilty to throwing a beer bottle into a "juke box" in The Rendezvous in Piedmont, causing estimated damages of $62.

Scheduled for a hearing today before Justice Bazzle on charges of felonious assault are Fred Linaburg and Byron Wotringer. Linaburg is alleged to have been the driver of a car that stopped on West Fairview Street in Piedmont about midnight and one of the six occupants called to Paul Roderick, 25, of Piedmont, who was talking to a friend in a nearby parked car.

Wotringer is charged with "grabbing Roderick as the car started out, dragging him about 150 feet. Roderick was treated by a physician who used sutures to sew up cut in his chest and legs. Authorities say the youths have admitted they did not know Roderick.

Thorn, Linaburg, Wotringer and the three other occupants of the car, Terry Maine, Gary Burgess and Francis Zacot were questioned by Maryland State Police about an incident that happened earlier in the evening when the youths are alleged to have picked up two hitchhikers in the vicinity of Lonaconing.

State Police said one of the hitchhikers, whom they did not name, was hit over the nose with a beer bottle while he was in the car. His nose was broken in three places, they said. The youths reportedly pushed both of the men from the car.

Prosecutor Holt said the six are also reported to have created still another disturbance in a Piedmont beer tavern. He added that the three not yet facing charges would be questioned further and that they would also probably face prosecution for their parts in some of the incidents.

Kenneth Wilson Heads
McCoolle VFW Post

McCOOLE — Kenneth S. Wilson of Westernport has been elected commander of Queen's Point Memorial Post 6775, VFW.

Other officers are Clyde W. Gardner, senior vice commander; John W. Chapman, junior vice commander; Carl Welch, quartermaster; Marion Dorsey, advocate; Melvin Rhodes, chaplain; Harold H. Snyder, surgeon; and Marvin M. Sheets, trustee for three years.

Mock Event
Scheduled

FROSTBURG — The house committee of the Maplehurst Country Club will hold a mock wedding at the club house tomorrow, beginning at 9 p. m.

The main roles will be portrayed by James Getty and Lloyd Griffith. Participating are Ward K. Cole, Benjamin Hughes Jr., Jonathan Jenkins, Thomas Stewart, James Reidler, Robert Porter, James Donahue, Harry Lee Devore, Louis Haus, Roy Deffenbaugh, Charles Pinto, Glenn Hanna, Nicholas Harris, Robert Nelson, Thomas Gracie, Henry Morrissey, Walter Eyer, Gerald Reeves, John Sleeman.

Supper Scheduled

FROSTBURG — Philaetha Class of First English Baptist Church will hold a covered dish supper today at 6 p. m. in the lower auditorium of the church. A program will follow.

John Devers, J. Glenn Beall Jr., Robert Rephan, William Zeller, Leo Dean, Emory Loar, E. B. Van Fossen, and William Woods.

Following the wedding and distribution of a wedding cake, a dance will complete the evening's entertainment.

Stone Slab Falls From Mantel In Home; Boy Killed

FROSTBURG — Services were held Sunday for five-year-old David Brown, of Peters Township, Washington County, who was killed when a stone slab fell from a mantel over a fireplace and struck him on the head.

The child was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Brown. His father is a native of Eckhart.

The accident occurred in the home of the boy's aunt, Mrs. Norma King, a few doors from the Brown home.

The boy was pronounced dead at St. Clair Memorial Hospital of a skull fracture.

The child's paternal grandmother is the former Mae Lancaster of Eckhart.

Supper Scheduled

John Devers, J. Glenn Beall Jr., Robert Rephan, William Zeller, Leo Dean, Emory Loar, E. B. Van Fossen, and William Woods.

Easter Cantata 'Hosanna' To Be Presented By Choir

WESTERNPORT — The choir of Church of the Brethren will present an Easter cantata, "Hosanna," Palm Sunday morning at 10:50 in the church sanctuary under the direction of Ralph E. Fike. Another performance of the cantata will be given Sunday, April 6, at 7:30 p. m.

The arrangement of the text and the composition of the music for the cantata were written by Roy E. Nolte.

The opening chorus, "Blessed is He," will be sung by the entire choir, followed by a bass solo, "And They Took Jesus," featuring Ted Metcalf with the choir.

The third number in the cantata, "Alleluia Sing Ye," is a choir arrangement with Mrs. Carol Lee Kelly singing the solo parts. A three-part women's chorus will be featured in the next number, "Upon the First Day," followed by a choir arrangement of "The Lord is Risen Indeed."

"In Dawn Divine" is a choir number featuring Mrs. Lorraine Stevenson as the alto soloist. "Morning of Life," a tenor and bass duet, features Brydon DeWitt and William Shiner. "A New Song" by the choir follows.

Again the three-part women's chorus will be heard in "We Hail a Risen King." A tenor solo by Brydon DeWitt will begin the number. "Serve Him Forever," with DeWitt and Mrs. Edna Marsh singing a tenor and alto duet, and the choir coming in on the climax of the song.

A soprano solo, "Bells of Easter Ring," featuring Mrs. Patricia DeVore with the choir will be followed by a two-part men's

Firemen Plan Census For Area Served

Bedford Road Volunteer Fire Company plans to take a census of families in the section in order to give better service in time of emergency.

The fire company will take the names and addresses of families in the Bedford Road area and this will give the firemen the exact location of any residence in case of emergency.

Each family also will be issued a sticker with full information on how to report a fire or emergency to the fire company.

Plans for the fire company's annual fund drive will be drawn up at a meeting next week. Chairmen for the drive will be David Wilson and Robert E. Grapes.

At a meeting Monday at 8 p.m., new members of the fire company will be installed by Douglas Heavner, president. Following the business meeting, a luncheon will be served.

Training sessions in various phases of fire-fighting will be given every other Monday at 8 p.m. at the Bedford Road Hall. Lectures and training on driver training, first aid, pump operator and radio operator instruction will be part of the program.

The last regular meeting of the fire company was held Monday night and the 10th session of the training schedule was conducted on "Water Drafting—Truck and Pump Relays" by David Wilson, assistant chief, and Ronald Saville.

A class of 18 men took part in the two-hour session of practice on the apparatus.

Former Resident Cited For Work

Mrs. Edgar D. Vandegrift of Salisbury, N. C., a former resident, is one of eight Red Cross workers of that area who will be cited at a recognition ceremony April 14 for her work with the Red Cross in the Salisbury area.

Mrs. Vandegrift worked as a Red Cross volunteer here for more than 15 years before moving to North Carolina. Much of her work there is with an educational therapy clinic at Rowan Memorial Hospital.

She is also service council chairman of 15 Red Cross chapters in North Carolina.

Summer School Slated At FSTC

President R. Bowen Hardesty of State Teachers College, Frostburg, announced the Board of Trustees of the Maryland State Teachers Colleges has approved a summer school for both graduate and undergraduate work at the Frostburg college.

The six weeks' session will begin Monday, June 23, and terminate Friday, August 1.

It is the first summer school for the institution in recent years. The master of education degree at State Teachers College is designed primarily for those holding a bachelor's degree and who are certified to teach in Maryland. It includes both the elementary and junior high programs of teacher education.

Other Groups Listed
Other groups which may be admitted to graduate work are: Those holding a bachelor's degree from a liberal arts college but not certified to teach in Maryland; those holding a bachelor's degree but not planning to work for a master's degree; those holding a bachelor's degree from an unaccredited college but desirous of working for certification in Maryland and those holding a bachelor's degree but seeking renewal for certification in Maryland.

The undergraduate program is designed for the following students: Those who were graduated from the two-year or three-year normal school and wish now to work toward a bachelor of science in education; those who hold a bachelor's degree in liberal arts and desire to qualify for certification for teaching in Maryland; those who are seeking a renewal of certificate; those who are transferees from other colleges and making program adjustments; those mature students who wish to accelerate their program; those who are seeking self-improvement in teaching; and those who are removing existing deficiencies.

May Get Data
Advance information has been mailed to all persons who have expressed interest in the graduate program. Such information is available by writing the registrar of admissions, Miss Elizabeth Hitchens, at the college. Those wishing to enroll for the forthcoming summer should make immediate inquiry.

The master's degree program was begun by members of the faculty of the college, with Dr. Margaret Lindsey, professor of education, Teachers College, Columbia University, and Dr. Harold D. Reese, supervisor of teacher and higher education, Baltimore, as consultants.

Ivan C. Diehl, dean of instruction at the college, is chairman of the graduate committee and coordinator of the program.

Last Regular One In 1930
The last regular summer session as such was held in 1930.

During World War II, from 1942 to 1946, summer sessions were held to accelerate the program but were not regular summer sessions like the one now being inaugurated.

When the summer classes were discontinued in 1930, the college was a two-year state normal school. In 1933 the courses were advanced to three years and in 1934 the present four year courses were begun.

Local Marine Winner In Region Event

Sgt. Bronke C. Atkinson, member of the Sixth Infantry Company, Marine Corps Reserve, was one of the two winners in the regional instructors' contest conducted in the Fifth Marine Corps Reserve and Recruitment District.

Sgt. Atkinson lectured on "Functions and Use of the Field Mask" in chemical warfare. He won the right to enter the regional event by being judged the best instructor in the local company.

He shared regional honors with PFC William E. LaBarre, Baltimore. Sgt. Atkinson and Pfc. LaBarre each received a wrist watch and won the chance to participate in the nationwide instructors' contest to be held in Washington in May.

Taking part in the regional event were Marine reservists from Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky and the District of Columbia.

Sgt. Atkinson, of 532 Cumberland Street, attended Allegany High School and served in the Marine Corps from 1945 to 1948. He again enlisted in 1950 and served until 1951. In March 1955, he signed up with the local reserve unit.

He is the local unit's training, education and information non-commissioned officer.

Youth Meeting Planned At Trinity Lutheran

Trinity Lutheran Church will be host to district officers of the Walther League Saturday at 7 p. m.

The program will include a short vesper service and film, "The Big M," giving information on increasing attendance and methods augmenting work of the church.

Demo Party's Hopefuls Push Votes' Debate

Cambridge Faithful Hear Barnstorming Candidates' Appeals

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — The Democrats' barnstorming candidates showing themselves off to the party faithful brought their debate for votes here last night.

Two top candidates on the "harmony" slate were missing but the 500 Dorchester County party leaders and workers heard a full night of politicking.

C. Ferdinand Sybert, candidate for reelection as attorney general, spoke out for the "harmony" slate he is a part of, noting it represents a total of 104 years of public office.

He said that he, gubernatorial candidate J. Millard Tawes, Senate candidate Thomas D'Alesandro and comptroller aspirant Louis L. Goldstein represented a good geographic cross section of the state, as well.

Campaign In Baltimore
Tawes and Baltimore Mayor D'Alesandro were campaigning in Baltimore last night.

It was the third mass appearance of candidates for the Democratic nomination in as many nights. Wednesday night they appeared in Chesapeake Beach and Tuesday, at Salisbury.

The audience at the American Legion hall here heard from three senatorial hopefuls, George P. Mahoney, James Bruce and Clarence D. Long. Each criticized the "machine" behind the ticket and boosted himself as the best protection from any such rigging.

Mahoney pointed out he was the only one of seven in the Democratic primary May 20 who had run in a statewide campaign previously.

"You want a man who received over 400,000 votes," he said. "You've got to look at the vote."

Bruce Sees Surprise
Bruce declared his support in Baltimore City would be a "surprise." The former ambassador said he was "tired of the city reaching out its tentacles" in trying to control county politics.

Long, a Johns Hopkins University economics professor, said the Senate post needs someone with its stature during times of economic recession such as the present. He also has served on the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

In an allusion to his other three chief rivals, Long said, "I'm fighting two millionaires and a big-city machine."

Bridge Opening Set For June 1

The new Baltimore Street Bridge will be open for traffic about June 1, a spokesman for the George F. Hazelwood Company, the contractor, said today.

The deck of the span was poured today, with 110 tons of concrete going into the project.

The concrete will be cured for two weeks before the blacktop surface is applied.

Gas and water mains have been placed under the bridge. Telephone lines will be carried on ducting through the sidewalk.

The bridge, 94 feet long and 42 feet wide, is being constructed as a part of the last phase of the Wills Creek channel work of the Cumberland flood protection project.

Police Aid Sought In Locating Woman

City Police have been asked to help locate a Kate Stuart who is thought to reside in this area.

A Mrs. Margaret Wise of Severna Park, Md., informed local authorities that the Stuart woman has two brothers who are seriously ill, one in a New York hospital and the other in a Virginia hospital.

Traffic Tied Up
Trooper L. Wayne Lewis, Maryland State Police, assisted by Troopers C. T. Snow, Carlton Lewis and George Robinette, investigated the fatal accident.

Traffic on the highway was tied up for more than an hour as State Police allowed only one-way movement of vehicles at the scene.

Mute evidence of the smashing force of the collision was the twisted, accordion-flat panel truck in which Lease was killed, and the heavy flatbed truck operated by Ziler, which was crumpled in a ditch nearly 225 feet away. Wreckage, debris, glass and blood splattered the highway between the two smashed vehicles.

Ziler Driving Home

Ziler, who lived only a few hundred feet from the scene of the crash, was driving his heavier, empty truck south toward his home.

The vending machine truck, apparently headed north toward Cumberland, failed to negotiate a slight curve in the road and smashed into the side of a larger truck.

Police found the dead man's head and shoulders wedged behind the wheels of Ziler's truck. The remainder of the body was lying alongside the highway a few feet from the panel truck.

Marks in the highway showed the lighter truck hurtled nearly 200 feet from the point of impact and crashed against a utility pole before coming to a stop.

CONNECTION BRIDGE ABUTMENT STARTED — Concrete is being poured for the abutment for the bridge that will carry the Western Maryland Railway's connecting branch with the B&O Railroad. The new link, to be placed along side the Potomac River levee will cut across the bottom part of the old Community Ball Park property. The connection with the other railroad will be in the vicinity of the B&O's westbound hump at Thomas Street. The old bridge across the Potomac, shown in the background, will be torn down. The entrance to the connection will be 100 yards east of the Western Maryland depot.

133 Register For City Vote During Month

The city registration office is having one of its best months with 133 new voters placed on the books, Mrs. Ruth Mangus, registration clerk, said today.

By the time the month comes to an end Monday, Mrs. Mangus said it would not be surprising if the total reaches 150. Last month there were 47 new registrations and 267 for the three months.

The March registration has sent the number of eligible voters over the 11,000 mark. At the end of February there were 10,940 on the books. This month's registration has increased that figure to 11,073.

Despite the registration pickup, the number of eligible voters for the June 3 primary and June 17 general election is expected to be considerably less than the 15,070 eligibles for the last municipal balloting in 1954.

Several thousand were removed from the books during a recent revision because they had not voted in the past five years.

Any resident of the city for one year is eligible to register. To be eligible for this year's election, a resident must register by May 13.

Wallace G. Ulery, city clerk, has reminded new residents that they must register for both the county and city elections. The county registration office is at the Allegany County Court House, Washington Street, and the city registration office in the basement of City Hall with entrance off Bedford Street.

'Mrs. Maryland' Finals Set Here

Finals in the "Mrs. Maryland" contest will be held at the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company office here April 10-11.

Two Allegany County homemakers, Mrs. Joanne Humbert and Mrs. Colleen Lapp who won cook-off competition Wednesday, will compete in the finals against the winner from Hagerstown. Mrs. Lapp resides at 13 Glenview Terrace and Mrs. Humbert at 801 Woodlawn Avenue, LaVale. LaVale.

Winner of the "Mrs. Maryland" contest will receive a $150 cash award and a two-week trip to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., for the "Mrs. America" contest.

Damage Suits Filed After Auto Mishaps

Three damage suits were filed in Circuit Court today.

Charles Paul Roeder, 813 Ashland Avenue, docketed suit against the Martin L. Johnson Company, 37 Henderson Avenue, for damages allegedly done to the Blue and White Tower Parking Service lot on North George Street.

The declaration, filed by Attorney John M. Robb, states that a truck owned by the Johnson firm and operated by Charles Harper was driven recklessly and negligently on the parking lot, second deck and caused the concrete floor to buckle and also struck posts and cables on the deck. Roeder asks $3,500 damages.

Car Hit By Car
A second suit, docketed by Walter Troxell Wiltson, 301 Walnut Street, Westernport, against Allen F. Kelly, trading as Kelly's Taxi in Westernport, asks $1,500 for damages to his car.

The declaration, filed by Attorney Horace P. Whitworth Jr., states that Wiltson's car was struck by a cab owned by the Kelly firm. It was alleged that the cab was operated at a high rate of speed and recklessly and hit Wiltson's car at the intersection of Rock Street and Vine Street.

The third suit was brought by Melvin Francis McKenzie, through his father, Joseph R. McKenzie, 76 Main Street, Lonaconing, against William C. Schramm, Barton.

It is to be fair tonight, with the low between 24 and 30 degrees in this section. The low here in the last 24 hours was 27 degrees but at noon today it was 50 degrees.

The cool nights have contributed to gradual thawing of snow in the mountains. At the Savage River Dam, the level of the water was normal for this time of the year.

The snow is melting there slowly and there is not much appreciable or noticeable rise in the Potomac River or many of its tributaries.

Low sections along Patterson Creek received some water from the swollen stream, but nothing serious was reported.

Vandalism, Thefts Are Investigated
City Police are investigating an act of vandalism that occurred last night in the garage of Sidney Phillips, 7 West Second Street. Phillips told police his garage was entered, the tail lights of his vehicle broken and baskets strewn about.

Police also have been notified that hub caps were stolen from the car owned by Virgil Bennett last night while it was parked in front of his home at 517 Linden Street.

Also under investigation is the theft of a wheel from a car on the lot of the Gulick used car lot on Thomas Street.

Car Crashes Into Corner Of House
City Police said a local motorist lost control of his car while negotiating a corner yesterday and crashed into the corner of a house.

Police said the driver, Robert F. Hast, 811 Columbia Avenue, informed them he had been sick and became weak while turning into an alley in the 600-block of North Mechanic Street. The car crashed into the corner of the home occupied by Mrs. Ivy Hysman, 639 North Mechanic Street.

The corner of the building was damaged, and it was estimated the car suffered $200 damage.

Taken To Hospital
Robert Athey, 72, of 528 North Mechanic Street, was admitted last night to Sacred Heart Hospital after he collapsed at a grocery store near his home. A. attaches today reported him in "fair" condition.

School Cost Installments Ordered Paid

New Lighting In Records Room Asked By Bar And Clerk

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners today paid the eighth and ninth installments of the school budget which totaled $376,948.80.

The request for the funds was made in a letter from Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools.

The money was taken from county accounts in three banks, $100,000 each from the First National Bank and Second National Bank and $176,948.80 from the Liberty Trust Company.

Survey Outlined
A request was received from the Allegany County Bar Association for new lights in the record room at the Court House.

James Alfred Avirett, president of the association, and Leslie Clark, chairman of the committee handling the project, and Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden met with the board.

A survey on the lighting needs in the record room, which has been improved by modern tables and cabinets, was outlined to the board.

The commissioners asked the Bar Association representatives to obtain an estimate of the cost of the project. If it is in excess of $1,000 it will have to be advertised for bids.

Insurance Bids In
Six bids were received by the commissioners today on group insurance coverage for county employees. The bids will be analyzed and a report given to the board next week by Henry Duke, local insurance man. Duke's agency is not one of the bidders on the group policy.

Bidders include Nationwide Insurance Company, North American Insurance Company, Life Insurance Company of Virginia, Connecticut General Insurance Company, Aetna Insurance Company and Blue Shield Hospitalization. The latter firm bid on the hospitalization coverage only.

The group policy includes life insurance, sickness and accident, and hospitalization.

Snow Removal Costly Items For County

The report of expenditures for repairs and maintenance of roads and bridges by the Allegany County Roads Department in February shows that snow removal and spreading of cinders, salt and cleaning ditches and drain pipes was the major item.

Snow removal from county roads cost $19,576.05 of a total expenditure of $24,134.50, according to J. Walker Chapman, roads supervisor. Labor took $14,766.32, materials, $968.78 and equipment costs were $3,840.95 for snow removal.

Total labor costs during the month were $18,836.31, materials, $1,004.94 and equipment, $4,293.25. The work in the various districts and the total cost follows:

District 1, Orleans, $1,334.63; District 2, Oldtown, $652.51; District 3, Flintstone, $269.65; District 4, Cumberland area, $11.26; District 5, Cumberland area, $11.01; District 7, Rawlings, $43.28; District 8, Westernport, $22.74; District 9, Barton, $4.90; District 13, Mt. Savage, $45.21; District 15, east Lonaconing, $18.20.

District 16, North Branch, $212.84; District 17, Vale Summit, $29.42; District 18, Ocean, $53.89; District 19, Borden Shaft, $15.26; District 20, Ellerslie, $44.92; District 21, Cross, $50.50; District 22, Cumberland area, $31.27; District 23, Cumberland area, $30.71; District 24, Eckhart, $25.73; District 27, Gilmore, $7.97; District 31, McCoolle, $82.40.

Bus Curtailment Rumors False
Cumberland Transit Lines today branded as false a report that it was planning any curtailment of its routes.

Guy M. Davis, operator of the local transit company, said the firm has been the victim of a "rumor campaign" for the past couple of weeks.

Reports had circulated that the company planned to cancel all runs April 1. The report, he said, is completely false and no curtailment is planned.

The firm was contacted after Mayor Roy W. Eves received an inquiry from a patron of the bus lines.

Minister Injured In Road Accident
Rev. Perry Liske, RD 2, Clearville, Pa., was admitted yesterday to Bedford County Memorial Hospital with injuries suffered in a head-on collision on Legislative Route 65021. Rev. Mr. Liske suffered chest and rib injuries and abrasions of the left knee and right arm.

Bedford County authorities said a car driven by Charles E. Mills, also of RD 2, Clearville, crashed head-on into the minister's vehicle. Damage to the cars was estimated at $2,000.

FATAL MISHAP TRUCK — William L. Lease, 33, of Allegany Grove, was killed instantly last night when the light panel truck he was driving failed to negotiate a curve on U. S. Route 220 near Rawlings and crashed into the larger truck shown in the picture. The impact of the collision is apparent in the extensive damage to the truck which was being operated by James Ziler, 24, Rawlings. Ziler escaped with abrasions of the knee and shoulder, while Charles R. Abbott, 24, of RD 5, a passenger in the truck which Lease was driving, is in critical condition in Sacred Heart Hospital with skull and internal injuries.

West Virginia Holds Hearing On RR Rates

CHARLESTON — Protestants to proposed freight rate increases by all of West Virginia's major railroads will have an opportunity May 13 to cross-examine witnesses for the carriers when a Public Service Commission hearing is resumed.

The PSC opened a hearing yesterday on the railroads' request for increased rates on a wide variety of items. The proposed boost would not be an across-the-board increase.

The State Road Commission and the Kanawha Coal Operators Assn. are among protestants to the increased rates. The railroads also are seeking increased charges for diversion or reconignment of intrastate freight shipments.

The railroads involved in the hearing include the Baltimore & Ohio, and Western Maryland.

The railroads presented testimony yesterday. The protesting parties also will be permitted to offer any evidence of their own at the May hearing.

Woman Killed

BALTIMORE — A Baltimore woman was killed and four other persons hurt early today in a two-car crash in northern Anne Arundel County.

Josephine T. Colman, about 30, died at University Hospital, about three hours after the collision. Police said she was employed by the Maryland Glass Corp.

Clubwoman Dies
Mrs. Helen Miller, 46, wife of Gilbert Miller, production manager of Consolidated Orchards at Spring Gap, died yesterday in Sacred Heart Hospital following a brief illness.

Infrared light rays were used by an American astronomer to find that Saturn's rings are snow.

Randolph Plans Vigorous Campaign For Senate Seat

ELKINS — Former Congressman Jennings Randolph, back at his home here after hospitalization with auto mishap injuries, said today his campaign for Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate would be only slightly modified.

Randolph was returned to his home yesterday from the Wetzel County Hospital at New Martinsville. He and Rep. Robert C. Byrd (D-WVa) were injured March 16 in a collision on W.Va. 2 near that community.

Byrd, a passenger in a car Randolph was driving, was not seriously hurt but Randolph was hospitalized with a hip bone fracture, rib injuries and facial cuts. The driver of the other automobile was killed.

Randolph and Former Gov. William C. Marland have filed for nomination to the unexpired U.S. Senate term of the late M.M. Neely (D-WVa) of Fairmont. Byrd has announced his candidacy for Democratic nomination to a six-year term in the Senate also at stake in this year's voting.

He quoted a physician here that he might be able to leave his bed and begin walking with assistance of a cane within a few days.

Randolph asserted that he would be "vigorous" in carrying forward his campaign.

At the Wetzel hospital, Dr. K.M. Hornbrook said yesterday that a slight fracture in Randolph's left hip bone could be expected to heal rapidly, and that removal of 20 stitches from his face left no disfigurement.

United Fund Agency Asks Fund Advance

Associated Charities Cites Large Increase In Number It Assists

The Associated Charities said it has had to ask for an advance of funds to meet obligations it incurred in meeting a 50 per cent increase in the number of people it helps.

Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive director, said the agency asked the County United Fund, Inc., to advance funds to meet bills—chiefly for food—supplied to needy people of the area.

She said the case load of the agency rose from about 400 in November to about 600 this week.

Unemployment, sickness and a severe winter contributed to the demand for aid from the agency, she said.

Most of the people who depend upon Associated Charities, she added, are affected by general unemployment even if they do not have regular work.

When industrial workers are laid off, she said, they wash their own cars and do the odd jobs which they hire others to do when work is good.

Many people, she added, depend on odd jobs such as car washing, washing walls, and housecleaning and "get along" when there is a normal demand for odd jobs.

Orchard workers, she added, have been prevented by bad weather from getting the few days of work they depend on to tide them over the winter.

Some of the construction workers, she said, began work too late in the year to qualify for unemployment pay and were left without resources.

Sickness has been a greater problem than usual, she said, and has left many families destitute when the bread winner was unable to work.

Divorce Decrees Issued In Court

Divorce decrees in 10 cases have been issued in Allegheny County Circuit Court.

Helen Virginia Mallow obtained a divorce from Floyd William Mallow and the right to resume use of her maiden name of Helen V. Brautnick. Marjorie J. Plummer was awarded a divorce from Gilbert L. Plummer and she was granted custody of their child, Roberta G. Lottes obtained a divorce from Martin G. Lottes Jr. Edna Virginia Moore was awarded a divorce from James H. Moore. Verda L. Hymes was granted a divorce from George S. Hymes. Hazel Mae Hobel was awarded a divorce from Joseph Hobel and custody of their infant child.

Ray Guidi obtained a divorce from Blanche Guidi and custody of their two children. Dolly Lou Garrison was awarded a divorce from Darrell Morgan Garrison. Ruby Orndorf obtained a divorce from Claude W. Orndorf and custody of their minor child.

Morton H. Cook was granted a partial divorce from Tina M. Cook.

REV. RALPH E. SMELTZER

Local Church Sets Services Holy Week

A series of services will be started Sunday at Living Stone Church of the Brethren with Rev. Ralph E. Smeltzer, director of the social education department of the Brethren Service Commission, Elgin, Ill., delivering the sermons.

Sunday at 11 a. m. he will preach on "What Is Christianity?" At 7:30 p. m. his subject will be, "What Is The Christian Idea of God?" Monday at 7:30 p. m., "What Is The Christian Idea of Man?" Tuesday night, "What Does Salvation Mean?" Wednesday night, "Applying Our Faith on Moral and Social Problems." On Thursday night at 7 o'clock, the congregation will observe Holy Communion. Friday at 7:30 p. m. the subject will be, "The Church: What Is It, Why Join It?" Saturday night's subject is "Can Christian Evangelism Match Communistic Evangelism?" On Easter Sunday morning the sermon subject will be "A Symbol of New Life." Easter Sunday night at 7:30 an Easter cantata, "The Story of Easter" will be presented.

Rev. Smeltzer, a former high school teacher, has done extensive work among Japanese Americans in the resettlement program of the Brethren Service Commission in Chicago and New York. He has visited most of the countries in Europe and studied relief problems abroad as well as at home.

His pastorates have included churches at South Bend, Ind., and he now serves as a member of three departments of the National Council of Churches: International Affairs, Church and Economic Life, and Racial and Cultural Relations.

Each year he directs two Christian citizenship seminars at the nation's capital and the United Nations. His other political action responsibilities have included the presentation of testimony to Congressional committees in Washington on draft extension and on fair employment practices.

Choir To Present Easter Cantata

The choir of Calvary Methodist Church in Ridgely will present the cantata "Hail the Victor" Sunday at 7:30 p. m. according to Rev. Harold L. May, pastor.

Musical selections will include "The Great Redeemer" by Frank Benson, bass soloist, and choir; "Calvary" by Miss Kathleen High, contralto soloist, and choir; and "Bells of Easter" by Mrs. Jane Phillips and Mrs. Peggy Powers, soprano soloists, and choir.

A quartet composed of Mrs. Mary Jo Stewart, Miss Margaret Scott, James Bobo and Benson will sing "Tenderly. They Bore Him."

Mrs. Helen May, Mrs. Donald Scott and Mrs. Claude Boyer will sing "Magdalene" and the choir will sing "Hail Ye Him," "Rest Thee Redeemer," "Behold the Galilean" and "Alleluia, Amen."

Mrs. Elizabeth Hammond will be the accompanist.

State Board Of Health Appeals Water Ruling

The State Board of Health has appealed a decision of former Chief Judge George Henderson in the case involving the West-ernport water supply of 19 families living in Garrett County.

The State Board of Health brought an equity action February 1 against the Mayor and Commissioners of Westernport to prevent the town officials from discontinuing the chlorination of water at the Savage River Dam.

Since the completion of a $250,000 filtration plant, the town had been chlorinating its water at the plant and wished to stop chlorination at the dam for the convenience of 19 Garrett County families living between the damland and the town limits. The town attorney was willing to continue furnishing day.

LaSalle Cagers Battle To Keep Alive In ESCIT

Title Hopes Of Explorer Five Dashed By Trenton

By JIM DAY

Times Scholastic Sports Editor
NEWPORT, R. I. — LaSalle High's hopes of rebounding from its dismal showing in last week's Knights of Columbus invitation tournament at Georgetown University were quickly and thoroughly dispelled here yesterday in the opening game of the 21st annual ESCIT at the new Rogers High School gym in this plush seashore resort town.

A fast-breaking, smooth-operating defending champion and the No. 1 seeded team in this year's tournament, Trenton Catholic of Trenton, N. J., rolled over the Explorers with comparative ease to move to the semi-finals tonight against third-seeded John Carroll of Washington. The Capital City cagers had a rougher time making it to the 8 o'clock game tonight, winning out over a scrappy St. Aloysius quint from Jersey City, N. J., 63-61.

Sad LaSalle Day

It was a sad day for the Explorers who were making LaSalle's first trip back to the ESCIT since 1946. Instead of entering tonight's semi-finals and the eventual shot at the championship they captured in 1944, the charges of coach George Geatz will be meeting St. Aloysius in the consolation semi-final today at 3:15. A loss this afternoon will knock LaSalle from the event—the first time it has ever failed to at least finish no lower than fourth in the extravaganza.

Trenton and John Carroll met tonight in one of the semi-final games, with the two New York clubs — All Hallows and Manhattan Prep — clashing in the nightcap.

All Hallows defeated DeLaSalle Academy of Newport, 60-50, and Manhattan Prep won over St. Joseph's of Huntington, W. Va., 62-54, yesterday. St. Joe's tangled with DeLaSalle in today's other consolation game.

Although the Explorers picked up considerably on the mediocre shooting exhibition of last week in the K of C tourney, they couldn't cope with the red-hot shooting cagers with championship ambitions. Coach Father Clarence O'Shea, who is also athletic director at Trenton, said that his club "wanted another leg on the title trophy." His cagers left little doubt they will be the team to beat again this year.

LaSalle hit on 26.7 per cent of its shots with 37 goals in 60 attempts but the Garden State rival was firing away at a near 50 per cent clip, 29 goals falling through in 64 tries for a percentage of 45.3.

Score Tied Only Once

The Explorers were able to tie the game only once, Charles "Chaz" Imes hitting from the corner on his favorite jump shot to make it 2-2.

But Rod Hoffman, a six-one bundle of energy and Joe Dempsey, the six-five pivot star of Trenton, quickly took over after Imes' bucket and the Explorers were trailing 8-2 with only three minutes gone in the first quarter.

Showing a lack of the polish that had helped them compile their 22-1 record against regular-season opposition, the Explorers began playing erratic ball, made bad passes and apparent mental mistakes while being unable to ward off the slick-working, offensive machine of the defending champs.

The scoreboard clock showed LaSalle back 11-2 before Van Parsons and Imes hit from the field to slice the edge to only five points. That gave the nearly 30 faithful rooters from Cumberland who had made the trip here to witness the Explorers, an optimistic feeling but it wasn't to last for long.

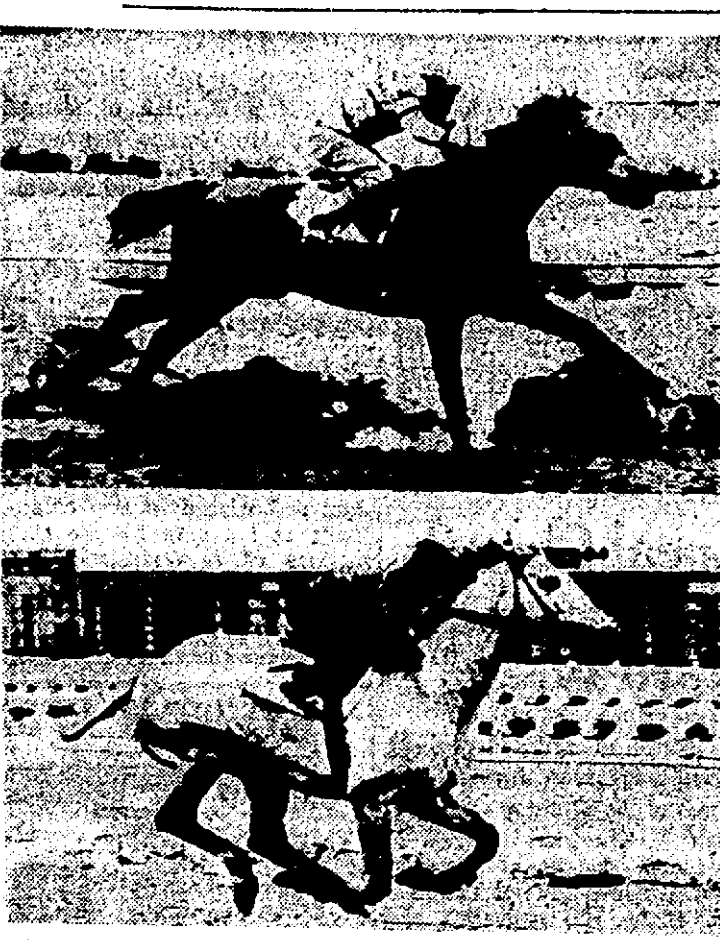

LaSalle was never to get any closer as the Jerseyites slammed in a dozen more counters before the end of the quarter while the Explorers were able to penetrate the tough defense of the Trentons for only six markers, falling behind 23-12 at the end of the eight minutes.

Fast breaking and hauling down the rebounds almost at will, Trenton doubled the score (32-16) near the mid-point of the second heat when Dempsey tapped in a rebound. Dempsey and Cornell Hess, who tied for scoring honors with 19 points apiece, started taking command through the rest of the period, Dempsey controlling the boards and Hess, a speed merchant, leading a back-breaking offense that was put LaSalle virtually out of reach, 42-23, at intermission.

Trenton Keeps Up Pressure
The Explorers, their attack being bottled up almost completely, could manage only 11 points in the quarter. Imes and Jim Tennent getting a pair of goals apiece while center Rick Winfield got his lone bucket of the first half on a nifty hook shot and Jack Bahea hit for a free throw.

Trenton, with the sweet smell of victory coming ever closer, didn't let up its attack as the third quarter began. Gene Denahan and Dempsey made a pair of double-doubles before Winfield got his second and last goal to make it 42-25. Dempsey, who was

Yank Scout Says Orioles Can Make First Division

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Yankee scout Tom Greenwade, who has been trailing the Baltimore Orioles since spring training began, will report back to the New York team soon.

What will he tell the Yanks?

"For one thing, I'll tell them this is a better club than Baltimore had last year," said Greenwade.

"I might sound funny when you look at the spring training record, but I wouldn't be surprised to see this club in the first division. I don't know who they'll beat out to do it because I haven't seen enough of the other teams."

The Orioles have lost 11 of 16 exhibition starts, including yesterday's 10-0 drubbing at the hands of the San Francisco Giants.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Manager Bobby Bragan's fears that fireballer Herb Score might not be in shape to pitch the Cleveland Indians' season opener April 15 were eased considerably by Score's sparkling performance yesterday.

In his best showing so far this spring, the young southpaw hurled four hitless innings in an exhibition against the Chicago Cubs.

In the clubhouse before the game, Score sat with his sprained ankle tightly taped and a heating pad on his stiff shoulder. He was asked how far he could go.

"I hope I can finish the first inning," Score grinned.

He finished not only the first but the next three as well, striking out five men and walking only two. He pitched to only 13 batters.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Chuck Stobbs, whose pitching has been below par during most of the spring season, apparently is back in good graces of Washington Manager Cookie Lavagetto.

Stobbs, who had surrendered nine runs in nine previous innings on the mound, gave up only one run in six innings yesterday as the Senators defeated St. Louis 2-1. He yielded only three hits before being relieved.

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Catcher Del Crandall had an elbow injury as the Milwaukee Braves battled to the world championship last year, but he's paying the price this spring.

In explaining why he kept quiet about the trouble the burly backstop said yesterday, "a guy doesn't want to sit on the bench when his team is winning the pennant."

Del has been seeing Dr. Michael DiCosola in Sarasota, and said he was told the problem is a bone roughness, similar to a bone spur but only smaller.

If the injury fails to respond to heat therapy surgery will be undertaken, but only as a final resort. The injury developed in Crandall's left elbow when former Pirate Dick Cole slid into him at home in June of 1956.

Athey Elected M-A President
CHESTERTOWN (Special)—Edward L. Athey, director of athletics at Washington College, was elected president of the Middle Atlantic Collegiate Athletic Conference yesterday.

The Middle Atlantic circuit has 33 member colleges and universities in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland.

Mr. Athey is a native of Cumberland and a graduate of All-gany High School. He graduated in 1947 from Washington College where he is completing his tenth year as director of athletics. He coaches soccer and basketball and is assistant coach of baseball.

He has a master's degree from Teachers College of Columbia University and is studying for a doctorate degree.

Mr. Athey is married and has three children.

Cards Depend On Dark For 'Hot Corner'

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (INS)—A sore-throwing arm has kept the veteran Alvin Dark from seeing much action in spring exhibition games, but he is expected to be at third and Eddie Kasko at shortstop when the St. Louis Cardinals open the regular season.

Many thought Dark, one-time Giant captain and star, would be stationed at the "hot corner" last season. However, Kasko was sensational afield in his rookie year and Al stayed at his old post of shortstop.

Now, the old pro and the sophomore are switching around as Dark has slowed up a bit and "Steady Eddie" can cover more ground.

Musial At First

Otherwise, the Redbird inner defense is the same—with speed demon Don Blasingame at second base and another veteran, Stan (100 grand) Musial at first.

Dark, one of the best hit-behind-the-runner men in baseball, reports he doesn't mind playing at third but realizes he will have to learn to master the problem of the spinning grounder. He explained:

"At third, you get a spinning ball that you don't get at shortstop. Another thing, I haven't worked much yet on a double play or on a bunt. That will take time, but I think it will work out. And I'll be more rested and relaxed. That should help my hitting, maybe make me a 300 hitter again."

The 35-year-old Cardinal boasts a lifetime major league batting average of .292. He hit .290 last season, and often "sacrificed" himself in an effort to advance a man by poking the ball toward right field.

Hutchinson Satisfied

Freddie Hutchinson, put-jawed field boss of the Redbirds who guided the club to a second-place finish in '57, says he is "satisfied" with the infield switch. He does not think it will be necessary to bring Ken Boyer in from center field to his former spot at third base for defensive purposes.

Boyer, shifted to the garden to make room for Kasko at third last year, has been demonstrating constant improvement in his outfield play and, even more important, his hitting has perked up noticeably.

Ken had an off-year at the plate in '57, hitting a lowly .265 after batting .306 and smashing 26 home runs the previous campaign, when he was the league's All-Star game third sacker.

Dozen Stitches In Basilio Eye

CHICAGO (INS)—Former middleweight boxing champion Carmen Basilio, informed that his left eye, injured in his fight Tuesday night with Sugar Ray Robinson, will heal perfectly, will be released from Chicago's Wesley Memorial Hospital within a week.

Dr. Richard A. Perritt, eye specialist who took a dozen stitches in the cut left eyelid yesterday, said the boxer who lost his title to Sugar Ray should be able to resume fighting "as soon as he feels strong enough."

Perritt said Basilio of Syracuse, N. Y., suffered four lacerations in the eyelids but added no injury took place to the eyeball or retina.

Basilio kept fighting for 10 rounds after his eye was completely closed early in the title fight.

Boxer Sugar Ray Robinson opened his professional career with 40 straight victories before he lost a decision to Jake LaMotta in 1943.

Hancock, Moose Advance To Senior 'Y' Semi-Finals

The Central YMCA gym will be dark tonight, teams in the Y-Jaycee basketball tournament being idle until Monday when the program resumes with a pair of games.

Bob Wolford's Hancock team moved to the semi-finals in the senior division last night by noosing out Carolan's Tavern, 61-60, in the most thrilling contest of the tourney to date. With five seconds to go and the Washington County quint trailing by one point, Henry Parks sank a field goal to clinch the victory.

Wolford, who coaches at Hancock High, was the star for the winners with his rebounding and defensive play. He also led his team in scoring with 19 points on eight field goals and three free throws. Three other Hancock players hit in the double figures.

Carolan's lost at the foul line. The Tavern tossers outscored their foes, 24-23 from the floor, but made only 12 of 25 singletons to Hancock's 15 of 22.

Galen McGregor hooped 16 points for Carolan's, while Mike Lease and Clarence "Pooch" Lewis each had 15.

Hancock won the game with a spirited fourth-quarter surge, trailing by ten points (49-39) as the last period began.

Loyal Order of Moose, champions of the City League, had little trouble in advancing to the senior semi-finals in last night's other game, running over Bowling Green to the tune of 61-30. The Moose manufactured 26 baskets while limiting Bowling Green to 12.

Don Lilya paced the Moose with 15 points and Ronnie Barbe had 13 for the losers.

Monday's doubleheader schedule finds the Bobcats tangling with the Police Boys Club in a 135-pound class semi-final at 7 p. m., and Rendezvous taking on Armbruster's Radio quint in an 8:30 junior unlimited clash.

Celts, Hawks Set To Open Final Series

By International News Service

The Boston Celtics and St. Louis Hawks, who went into double overtime in the seventh game before the 1957 National Basketball Association title was decided, are back for more.

Both clubs won their division crowns last night—Boston edging Philadelphia, 93 to 88, and St. Louis trouncing Detroit, 120 to 96—to take the best-of-seven series in five games apiece.

Big Bill Russell, Boston's 30-foot-ten center, hauled down 36 rebounds to pace the Celtics' victory march. Frank Ramsey and Tom Heinsohn topped the Boston Scorers with 22 points. Paul Arizin tallied 28 for the losing Warriors.

Cliff Hagan gave St. Louis a 32-point performance as the Hawks "held" Detroit's George Yardley, the NBA's leading scorer and the only player in its history to score 2,000 points in one season, to 18—nine below his per-game average.

The contest was close until Ed MacAuley hit for 12 quick points in the second quarter to put the Hawks in front.

The defending champion Celtics and the Hawks will open the final round Saturday afternoon at the Boston Garden. The game will be televised nationally (NBC).

Score Pitches Four Hitless Tribe Frames

By The Associated Press
The Tribe is talking pennant again with a healthy Herb Score chucking them in as he did in his 20-win season of 1956.
The 24-year-old southpaw fireballer was just beginning to warm up last season when he was nearly blinded by a line drive that sidelined him for most of the season. With every one else suddenly developing sore arms, the Indians plunged from a second to a sixth-place finish in the American League.
Now Score is back and hope springs eternal for Cleveland. The strikeout artist threw another scare into the Indians when he sprained his ankle at the start of the spring training campaign.
Four Hitless Innings
But he tested the rubber again yesterday and pitched four hitless innings as the Indians snapped a four-game losing streak with a 13-to-7 victory over the Chicago Cubs at Tucson.
Although he was idle for a week because of the bothersome ankle and a stiff shoulder, Score struck out five and walked only two in cooling off the red-hot Cubs, who had blasted 60 runs in the last five games. Only two of Score's pitches were hit out of the infield.
Dick Brodowski followed Score and gave up all seven runs in the seventh and eighth innings, including a pair of two-run homers by Walt Moryn.
Billy Hunter of the Athletics and Andre Rodgers of the Giants also drilled two homers apiece yesterday in a day that was otherwise reserved for pitchers.

Nothing Wrong With Hitch In Swing, O'Doul Declares

This is another in a series of spring training camp stories by Norm Gerdeeman, former local baseball star and minor league manager, who is covering major league teams working out in the Far West. Gerdeeman now resides in Lake Tahoe, Nev., where he is employed by Harrah's Club.

By NORM GERDEMAN
PHOENIX, Ariz.—In 1951 at Boyes Springs, Calif., I did my first interview on Frank (Lefty) O'Doul. At that time the former great slugger was managing the San Francisco Seals and the club was training at the Springs, better known as the Valley Of The Moon. Times have changed some, as O'Doul is now the head master (batting instructor) of the San Francisco Giants.

I am taking a few last-minute notes for this interview while waiting a "special cut" from Paul Oberhaus' famous prime rib. In Phoenix it's the place to go. And Oberhaus, who at one time was a star basketball player for the Cumberland Dukes, is a top host. Now for the story.
PSEUDO experts are prone to sneer about slumping batters in baseball by declaring "He has a hitch in his swing."
"The important thing is to get the hitting done and be in position to hit the ball when it gets there. Any stance is OK if you can deliver the bat," O'Doul said.

Nothing Wrong With Hitch
"There's nothing wrong with a hitch," Frank (Lefty) O'Doul said while I was "drooling" over the prime rib. "Look at Mel Ott. He not only had a hitch in his swing, but took a pronounced high step with his inside foot."

"The important thing is to get the hitting done and be in position to hit the ball when it gets there. Any stance is OK if you can deliver the bat," O'Doul said. Lefty O'Doul is a self-made hitter who, like Babe Ruth, started as a pitcher and made his mark as a batsman.
Now in Phoenix helping those members of the San Francisco Giants who can be helped, O'Doul won't promise general improvement for the team. "It depends on the hitter how much you can help," he explains. "Some guys are pupils, some are not."

Then, O'Doul points out, some batters have kept faults for such a long time they find it next to impossible to break them. They have become comfortable with their faults and find it uncomfortable batting any other way.
Cites Bobby Thomson
"Then there are cases like Bobby Thomson. He has good form now and I can't help him. Oh, maybe I could show him how to hit a particular pitch or help him break a slump, but his form's good. Today I showed him what to do on a high pitch."

The secret to good hitting in O'Doul's philosophy is getting power from the body—and it's all timing, he insists.
A common timing fault arises from striding toward the bat before swinging. "Take a step and then try to throw a ball when you're extended," he suggests. "Same thing in batting. If you take the step first, then you can't get power behind the bat. You have to stride as you throw—or bat."

But the most common fault he's found among batters is that of dropping the hip pockets. "They must be high even on a low pitch," he insists.
O'Doul sneers at the common misconception that a hitter must keep his bat parallel to the ground to do well. "The only time the bat is parallel is on a high pitch," says O'Doul, holding his hand out level with his shoulder to demonstrate. "To get it parallel on one down there," he adds, pointing to a spot just below his knees, "you'd have to kneel down."

Neither does he agree there's any particular best way to hold the bat or to adopt a stance at the plate. "DiMaggio held it this way. Williams this way," O'Doul demonstrated. "and I held it this way. All of us were like this when we hit the ball," he added, demonstrating again.
Even so famed a hitter as Dusty Rhodes followed some O'Doul advice yesterday. It concerned recovering from his hitch in time to be ready for the delivery and the action of his right, or inside foot at the plate. Rhodes admitted he'd been unprepared for the pitch because of his hitch and that he could see the ball better now.
"All timing," O'Doul repeated. "Any stance will do if you deliver the bat."

Crawford 7 to 5 Choice Tonight
NEW YORK (AP)—Young and clever Mickey Crawford, who says he can beat most of the leading welterweights, gets a chance to prove it tonight against veteran Gil Turner at Madison Square Garden.

Although he's stepping up in class, the 24-year-old prospect from Saginaw, Mich., is the 7-5 favorite over the 27-year-old four-time ranking contender from Philadelphia.

It's Crawford's debut as a Garden main event.

Terps' Davis To Start For South Tonight

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—North-South All-Star basketball teams meet here tonight at 8:15 in a post-season game which will match the speed and shooting of the South squad against the size and rebound strength of the North.
Three Atlantic Coast Conference players, Tommy Kearns of North Carolina, Jim Newcome of Duke and Nick Davis of Maryland, will be in the starting lineup for the South.
Everett Case of North Carolina State, coach of the South squad, also plans to start Joe Hobbs of Florida and Temple Tucker of Rice.

Joe Lapchick of St. John's, coach of the North squad, announced his starting lineup will have Wayne Embry of Miami of Ohio, Warren Bockhorn of Dayton, Jack Parr of Kansas State, Don Ohl of Illinois, and either Rudy Finderson of Brandeis or Hal Greer of Marshall.

The two squads wound up practice yesterday in Reynolds Coliseum, scene of tonight's game.
Others on the South squad are Whitey Bell of N. C. State, who was expected last night from New York where he has been playing AAU ball; John Nacinek of Maryland, Dom Flora of Washington & Lee, Pete Gaudin of Loyola of New Orleans, Dave Ketcher of Morehead State and Wenden Carr of Wake Forest.

Lapchick's North squad also includes Jack Quiggle of Michigan State, George Kline of Minnesota, Tom Garberina of LaSalle and Tink Van Patton of Temple.

Pistol League 'Shootoffs' Open Tuesday

IN THE final two matches fired in the Western Maryland Pistol League this week, the Eagles scored a double victory over the Hawks and the Falcons. Hawks and Owls split a pair and the Falcons suffered a two-match loss.
Don Helbig of Oakland tied a rapid-fire match record set only last week by Ken Ridder, also of Oakland, when he put together scores of 95 and 96 for 191. High scores were the rule as Bill Whitson just missed the Gallery record held by Jake Livengood when he scored 88 slow, 98 timed, and 95 rapid for a score of 281. Livengood's record of 284 was fired in 1957.

Howard Nelken was top man for Falcons with 266. Leo Leasure led Eagles with 274 and Norman White topped Hawks with 272.
In match 36, Ken Ridder led Eagles with 181, Nelken had 178 for Falcons, Whitson 187 for Owls and Helbig 191 for Hawks.

The Shaughnessy shoot-off will start next Tuesday with Hawks firing against Falcons and Eagles against Owls. The winners will fire for the league championship the following week. All matches will be fired on the Bowman's Addition range. The scores:

Esso Sextet, Vets In Title Game Tonight

Greene Street Esso and VFW will meet tonight, beginning at 7 o'clock, on the Carver court for the championship of the women's basketball tournament sponsored by the City Recreation Department.

Both teams advanced to the finals with semi-final victories by identical scores of 55-25 last night at Carver. Greene Street whipped Ursuline Academy and the vets battered McDade's Market.

Greene Street hopped away to a 7-0 lead over Ursuline and was never headed. Nancy Belt led the Esso attack with 24 points. Judy McKenty was high for Ursuline with seven.

Height and experience were the big factors in the VFW victory. The Vets took a 24-13 lead at intermission and during the second half lengthened their lead on Sandy Roeder's set shots from the outside. Janet Andrews, captain of McDade's, sank several nice layups but they were not enough to overcome the sparkling play of the defending champs.

VFW limited the opposition to eight baskets while sinking a total of 24. Kathy Mullaney with 17 points and Sandy Roeder with 13 paced the VFW scorers. Mary Jane Morris topped the losers with 13 tallies.

Klu Giving Self Two-Week Test To See If He Can Play

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Big Ted Kluszewski is giving himself a two-week test to see how much he can help the Pittsburgh club this year. So far, his bad back, which has been diagnosed as a slipped disc, hasn't bothered him.

"I feel a little stiff all over," he said yesterday after playing against his old Cincinnati teammates in Tampa. "But it is just the normal stiffness of spring training. It isn't my back."

"I've been doing a lot of batting practice and I played a squad game Tuesday. Then I played five innings against the Dodgers in my first regular game. This was my third game.
"So far, I am very optimistic. But I want to give it a good trial, 10 or 12 games or about two weeks. My back feels so good now it almost scares me."

Much has been written about the special support Kluszewski wears. He dug a strange-looking piece of paraphernalia out of his uniform bag. It resembled a giraffe with extra attachments.

"It works like a two-way stretch," he said. "It gives me extra support and it feels good. Maybe it's mostly mental. Anyhow, it helps me. I will wear it."
Kluszewski scored from first base on a double in the game against the Dodgers. He had an infield single in two trips. Against Cincinnati he had two straight ground singles to center.

Supposing the two-week trial didn't work out. Would Klu keep on playing?
"It all depends whether I could help the club," he said. "I would not want to sit around and the club would not want to have me around if I could not play."

Bufferins And Anacins In Opening Victories

The best-of-three series to decide the championship of the Men's Basketball League sponsored by the City Rec Department will be resumed next week.

Carolans Tavern got the jump in the series last night by nailing Hafer House, 46-44, in a ding-dong battle at Carver. Hafer House led 13-9 at the end of the first quarter, Carolans led 18-17 at the half and the score was tied at 26 when the third stanza ended.

Late in the game Doug Sullivan put Carolans in front, 43-42, with a field goal and Ed Downton dropped in three straight points in the final 30 seconds for the Tavern cagers.

"Two Cities" Termed "Satisfying"

By JACK O'BRIAN
NEW YORK — (INS) — If you never had read "A Tale of Two Cities," last night's TV version of the Dickens masterpiece may have been a thoroughly satisfying experience; we can't judge that, having read it.
Therefore, it is a tale of conflict between two artistic mediums — the constrictions of TV drama vs. the horizonless flow of detail with Dickensian imagination packed with beautiful excitement into the large and painstaking perfection of the long novel.
To get it onto TV seemed a hopelessly courageous notion in the first place, perhaps doomed to disaster. That it came off as well as it did, not a disaster at all, keeping in almost miraculous fashion the flavor of Dickens if not the delicious detail, is reason enough for celebration.

For the purists there will be much to brood about. Many characters were dropped by the TV wayside in paring it down to some 75 minutes of performance.
Others were given speeches they didn't own in the original: Notably Madame Defarge, whose part had to be built up considerably to justify hiring a star such as Agnes Moorehead.
To bulk out her role, TV adapter Michael Dyne gave her a whole exciting speech in the trial scene which in the novel was simply a letter read by the president.
There were other victims of TV streamlining but the foregoing is the argument for those who prefer "A Tale of Two Cities" in a larger frame than TV permits.
Michael Dyne's adaptation performed a miracle in getting a large flavor of the story onto TV at all.
Robert Mulligan's direction also was a triumph of logistics, for the problem seemed sometimes to be more nearly a movement of troops than any delicacy of Dickensian expression.
Eric Portman was exceptionally effective as Dr. Manette; Miss Moorehead too heated for a properly malignant Madame Defarge, which perhaps was more an adapter's fault.

Rosemary Harris found her role fairly well employed by the time it got to TV — James Donald managed to get a great deal of depth and characterization into his "Sydney Carton" performance, while Denholm Elliott as Charles Darnay did not.
Gracie Fields as Prossy was fine; Max Adrian as the Marquis was perfect.
Fritz Weaver as Barsad had time to look furtive and that's about all, while Bruce Gordon, as Madame Defarge's husband, seemed too young in the first place.
In any event, it was an adventurous experiment, rushing in where TV sponsors too often fear to tread, and encouragement should be offered on that level at least.

Dear Abby - - - By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm 37 and my that's all. She is not charging you since you already have blood pressure was 190 all the him any storage for his furniture mine? DISGUSTED time my mother-in-law lived with in her apartment and she pays DEAR DISGUSTED: I agree the rent. How can we work this with you, but there must be something the matter with the way you are "asking" her. daughter my blood pressure went? DEAR EDNA: If Bill wants to marry you, he will move HIS fur-down to 140. My mother-in-law is 66 years old and all she does niture out of HER apartment and move it into an apartment where health is. Our doctor says I you and he can live as man and should have her heart. She has wife after getting married, of lived with us for four years. Don't course). It's as simple as that.
you think one of the other children should take her for a while? DEAR ABBY: I would like your unbiased opinion on a matter which has grown to be utterly disgusting to me. My wife can't nurse our two weeks old baby without a cigaret dangling from her mouth. I think it looks vulgar. We have discussed this intelligently but I get nowhere with her. How about an opinion from
My husband has four sisters and two brothers.
HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE
DEAR HIGH: If your mother-in-law sky-rockets your blood pressure, she most certainly should not live with you. If one of the others cannot take her, you could all pitch in and arrange private quarters for her elsewhere.
DEAR ABBY: My problem is my husband. All he does is sit and read. The minute he gets to the breakfast table he reads the paper. The minute he walks in at night he takes the evening paper. He reads while he eats, and not only that, when he goes to bed he always takes his magazines and he reads in bed. I am about ready to lose my mind. What should I do?
DEAR BOILING: It's time YOU read, too. Read this thoughtful character the riot act.
DEAR ABBY: I got a job as waitress at this place where Bill tends bar. It was practically love at first sight for us. He explained he was NOT married but shared an apartment with a woman. All the furniture in the apartment belongs to him. We want to get married, but she won't move out of the apartment. He still keeps his clothes there as his room at the "Y" has no clothes closet. He goes to her apartment to change clothes but

Street Flushing Begins Monday

Flushing city streets will begin Monday at 11 p. m., weather permitting. Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz said yesterday.
He said the work will begin in the downtown area from the B & O Viaduct to Williams Street between the railroads.
The spring housecleaning task will be performed by five-man crews using hoses to flush the streets and brooms to dislodge the dirt and cinders which have accumulated during the winter.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is according to the stars.

For Saturday, March 29, 1958

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—Important "musts" today. Systematically tend to day's duties, disregard small irritations and other "idiotic" crises. This will leave room only for sensible action and resultant gains.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Not all easy today nor is it too demanding. Much will depend upon true obligations. If day is free and you can relax, do so; enjoy a good book, music, a refreshing, healthy hobby.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Be not worried; don't fret if new ideas and unusual inspirations are not so plentiful. Good to rest, even if it means occasionally and permit fresh initiative to grow. Practical matters rate.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer)—Don't let out through want of forethought or inattention. Don't crowd with needless tasks; take time for some recreation, rest, family pleasures. Don't worry if things are slow.

JULY 22 to AUGUST 21 (Leo)—Mild influences but going to very fine ones after sundown. Take things quietly, calmly, don't even strain or strain to do the unusual. Make time for good fun, a pastime, exercise.

AUGUST 22 to SEPTEMBER 21 (Virgo)—Strong tendencies advise extra care in premises, contracts, putting your signature to any document. Polite, ease of mind; unworried thought and action asked. No rushing.

SEPTEMBER 22 to OCTOBER 21 (Libra)—Some rather stiff influences to cope with and day may not be "easy to take," as they say. However, follow usual sensible methods and ways and you will manage diplomatically.

OCTOBER 22 to NOVEMBER 21 (Scorpio)—No undue favors. Don't seek to force matters. Be happy to be able to earn. Make it a pleasant, not too vigorous period for what is needed. Hobby, sports, good reading, entertainment sponsored.

NOVEMBER 22 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius)—Your Jupiter advises economy and no extremes or throwing caution to the winds. Mind important details and don't indulge worry, fears. Go along in usual sensible way and day will satisfy.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn)—Be wisely careful in all you do not fearing but realizing Day has its ups and downs so we can endeavor to be on the "up" side. Enjoy your obligations, count them as blessings.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 18 (Aquarius)—If you show your wares at their best and don't hamper your advancement by lagging, you will have some new offerings of values, fresh leads that can bring later success. Be smart.

FEBRUARY 19 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—Heed advice to Capricorn and Scorpio. Show your challenging spirit and ability to manage on not too smooth as well as on more agreeable days. Be spirited but not overgenerous. Up to you.

YOU BORN TODAY are energetic, ambitious, willing to work hard to achieve. May be stubborn and willing to bend at times, but once you realize the futility of this, you will change and prefer your best attributes, which are indeed fortunate. It is always advisable to listen to those qualified to advise. We learn something new of value. Anyway, it costs nothing to listen. Study, strive for more knowledge and experience. Keep your health in good condition and keep good humor always with you. Birthdate of John Tyler, 10th United States President.

Discard Should Cue Partner

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

A Jamestown, N. Y., reader writes as follows:

"I don't know if you approve of the bidding but anyway South landed in three no-trump and I opened my pack of hearts.

"South won with the queen and led the ten of diamonds. Dummy played low and my partner took his queen and returned a heart which South won with the ace.

"South led a second diamond and it was up to me to make that discard best calculated to get a spade lead from my partner. Obviously, I should discard a heart but which one? I finally hit on the ten spot. This play clearly told partner that I did not have the king because certainly with king-ten I would have thrown the king rather than the ten."

"It did not work out that way. South let my partner win his king and back came another heart whereupon declarer proceeded to make his contract."

THE BILL STATES THAT THE PETITIONER, Peter R. Perino, is resident of Allegheny County and, together with Nancy Lee Perino, has had the care and custody of Anne Elizabeth Marchich since October 13, 1956; that he has maintained and supported her since June 30, 1957; that the said Anne Elizabeth Marchich was born of the marriage of Nancy Lee Perino and Bert Dominic Marchich, which was terminated by a decree of divorce of the Superior Court of California at Sacramento, California, passed on September 4, 1956; that said decree awarded the custody of said infant, Anne Elizabeth Marchich, to Nancy Lee Perino; that the petitioner and Nancy Lee Perino were married on October 13, 1956; that the said Bert Dominic Marchich has not contributed to the support or maintenance of the said infant since June 30, 1957; that the said Bert Dominic Marchich is a non-resident of the State of Maryland and his whereabouts are unknown; that the petitioner is desirous of adopting said infant, at the same time reserving all rights to the said Nancy Lee Perino to remain the natural mother, the latter consenting to the adoption; that the best interests and welfare of the said infant will be promoted by the passage of a decree declaring said infant the adopted child of the petitioner.

"My partner claims that I should have pitched the deuce of hearts. Is he right?"

Yes! East probably should have led a spade after any heart discard but the ten spot discard certainly made it hard for him. The deuce discard would have made things crystal clear.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

PROMOTED — Lloyd W. Baker has been elected a vice president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Baker, formerly executive assistant to the president, began his career in the freight traffic department at Baltimore in 1923. Subsequent promotions with increased responsibility included industrial agent and later assistant general freight agent at Cincinnati, Ohio, general freight agent and freight traffic manager, sales and service, at Baltimore. He will take over his new position on Tuesday.

Wall Street Hears...

NEW YORK — (INS) — Wall Street Hears: The market has spent more than a week in a narrow range bounded by less than 5 points in the closing Dow Jones industrial averages. Inflation talk is supporting it; that old resistance line around the 450 level is providing its biggest psychological hurdle. Steady liquidation in Gardner-Denver, which has kept the stock at 34, unchanged for more than a week, now believed just about concluded. The Bell Aircraft annual meeting has been postponed to June 30 from the originally scheduled April 21 because of current negotiations believed to involve merger talks with Vertol. Associated Dry Goods sales in year to Feb. seem about 6 per cent ahead of a year ago. Net will closely approximate the $3.92 a share of fiscal 1957, even though there were about 100,000 more shares outstanding at the end of the latest year. Market comment — Ralph E. Samuel & Co.: "We would adjust our investment policy to what we believe will be the pattern of our economy; nothing too serious on the downside and nothing too rewarding on the up."

Business Briefs

NEW YORK — (INS) — The American Newspaper Publishers Association announced today it has prepared a comprehensive "action kit" designed to help its member newspapers in their support of "auto buy" week promotions. The ANPA said 30 cities already are preparing such promotions for April, most of them patterned after a successful project in Cleveland a month ago.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Record earnings and an all-time high in case sales were reported today by Pepsi-Cola Company for 1957. Profits amounted to $9,559,675, or $1.61 per common share, a 7 1/2 per cent increase over the previous year. Sales figures were not detailed, but the annual report said 58 domestic plants were selling in excess of a million cases annually.

W. Virginia Miscellany

By The Associated Press
Mountain State miscellany: Robert J. Ryder, vice president and director of United Fuel Gas Co. and its affiliated companies in Columbia Gas System's Charleston group, retires April 1. He is vice president in charge of the company's depreciation and rate departments. Kanawha County has been selected as the first in the state for incorporation into the 4-H program of an automotive care and safety project. Members interested in the project will hold a Saturday meeting in Charleston.

Charges against Community Savings and Loan Co. of Parkersburg of a deficiency of $25,910 in income tax payments resulted instead in a finding that there was an overpayment of $1,093 when the case was tried in Huntington.

Mechanical problems encountered in lining up the intricate machinery brought a new postponement until today in a test run at the preparation plant of the new Loveridge mine of Consolidation Coal Co. (W. Va.) near Fairmont.

Norfolk and Western Railway car loadings were down last week by more than 1,000 from the seven days ended March 23. The total of 14,379 cars of 50-ton equivalent compared with 15,522 in the week ended March 15 — and 22,876 in the same 1957 period.

G. C. Johnson Construction Co. of Welch has been awarded a $24,880 contract for remodeling the exterior portion of the fire-damaged Welch Grade School. A contract for restoring the interior will be awarded later. The total damage to the school in a February blaze was estimated at $200,000.

The John G. Purs Manufacturing Co., formerly of New York City and a producer of cabinets for sewing machines, has moved equipment into a building in Thomas, Tucker County, where it will begin operations by employing about 25 persons.

Parkersburg's new municipal parking building was more than 25 percent completed this week. Council has under consideration a resolution to pay $107,130 to Dresser - Ideco Co. of Columbus as part payment for the structure, which will cost about $390,000 in all.

Residents of the Pleasant Valley section of Marion County are attempting to establish a volunteer fire department to serve their area as well as Millersville, Kingmont, Bentons Ferry and surrounding territory.

George Springer, Beckley Post-Herald sports editor, reported that if any money is made when the barnstorming West Virginia University basketball all-stars play at Beckley the afternoon of April 13, it will be donated to the District 5 Little Leagues of that area.

Marshall College's golf coach, Neal B. (Whitey) Wilson, has all five regulars back from last year's team which missed the Mid-American Conference championship by a single stroke. The Big Green linksmen opened their season Friday at home against defending MAC champion Ohio University.

Wilson reported that Jack Freeman, No. 1 individual in the conference last season, and Linden Meade, 1957 runner-up, lead the said 58 domestic plants were selling in excess of a million cases annually.
